

ELEMENTARIES WIN SERIES

Second Year Class at Stevens Point Normal Awarded Silver Cup by Dr. Bischoff.

Class spirit ran high for the past week or so during the girls' basketball tournament held at the local Normal school. Dr. J. M. Bischoff presented a silver loving cup as a prize for winning the contest, while a box of candy was offered as a reward for the next best team. In the first two games, held early last week, the Elements defeated the Seniors and the Freshmen beat the Juniors. In the next series of games the Freshmen in a fast game upset all "dope" by defeating the Seniors 15 to 11, thus putting the latter team out of the race. The Juniors, handicapped by their size, were again beaten by the Elements, 21 to 5. This left the Elements and Freshmen the only undefeated teams. Monday the Juniors and Seniors met to fight out of last place. The Seniors were expected to swamp their opponents, but to the surprise of everyone the Juniors, by a game fight, came out winners to the tune of 7 to 4. This puts the Seniors in last place with the Juniors third. The game to decide the championship was played between the Elements and Freshmen Tuesday evening. As both teams had won from the same opponents by about the same scores, a hard battle was anticipated, but the game was in the end rather one-sided, ending 21 to 6 in the Elements' favor, thus giving them the championship and the cup. Total averages:

	Won	Lost	Av.
Elements.....	3	0	1,000
Freshmen.....	2	1	.667
Juniors.....	1	2	.333
Seniors.....	0	3	.000

Gets Half Section of Land.

Ralph Whiting returned last Wednesday from Montana, where he spent a week and succeeded in getting a home-stand of 320 acres of government land, of which 160 acres are suitable for grazing and the balance is considered excellent for raising all kinds of grain. It is located 18 miles from Ft. Benton, Mont., a town of considerable importance on the Great Northern R. R. Thompson & Wilford acted as locators for Mr. Whiting and he deeply appreciates the many courtesies extended him during his stay in the west. The senior member of the above firm was a resident of Neenah when Ralph lived there.

Celebrated Surgeon Dies.

Dr. Byron Robinson, well known surgeon and writer on medical topics, died last week at his home in River Forest, a suburb of Chicago, of kidney trouble, from which he had suffered for six months. He was born in Hollandale, Wis., fifty-three years ago, attended school in a log cabin and later graduated from the University of Wisconsin and Rush Medical College and studied at universities in London and Berlin. He began his practice at Grand Rapids, Wis., later removed to Toledo and for the last twenty years had been located in Chicago. He is survived by his widow. The funeral services and burial took place Saturday at his birthplace. Dr. Robinson had a number of friends in Stevens Point, having visited here in the past.

Many More Moulders.

Matt Kolz, Chas. Wallert, Chas. Bartkowiak and Henry Mosley have returned from Manitowoc and are numbered among the new moulders employed in the Stevens Point Foundry & Machine Co. shop. Others who have arrived within a few days and accepted positions with the same concern are Frank Korbal of Wausau, John Herrick of Ohio and Wm. Devore of Three Rivers, Mich. The latter was accompanied by his family, who now occupy a residence at the corner of Oak street and East avenue. The local foundry company is turning out immense quantities of castings for the Soo line and is also doing a large amount of work for various mill concerns and granite quarries throughout this section. They will materially add to their present large force as soon as desirable help can be secured.

BRAVE RESCUER BURNED

While Saving the Life of Little Lillabell Lighthart, Mrs. John Demmerly Has Hands Badly Scorched.

Monday evening after supper Mrs. John Demmerly was engaged in burning rubbish in her yard at the south end of Church street, just north of McDill, and among others who were assisting in the work or playing about was little Lillabell Lighthart, the nine year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lighthart, who reside across the street. Getting too close to the fire her dress became ignited, and instantly was a mass of flames. Without a moment's hesitation Mrs. Demmerly ran to the child and commenced smothering the fire with her bare hands, not stopping until every spark had gone out. The child was quickly carried home and Dr. Southwick responded to the call for medical assistance, home remedies being applied in the meantime. While the little girl's entire back was scorched and burned, she escaped otherwise, and unless unforeseen complications set in, she will soon recover. After her brave rescue, Mrs. Demmerly began to realize that she also had come in contact with fire, both hands being burned, the left more severely than the right, but she did not complain, being pleased with the realization that the outcome was not more disastrous. Mrs. Demmerly is rapidly recovering.

Buyers More Property.

What is known as the Douville property at Mosinee was purchased by the Wausau Street Railway Co., last week. This company bought the water power at Mosinee a year or more ago and it was important that they secure the lands belonging to the Douville estate, which are located on the very brow of the falls and adjacent to the railroad yards.

Architect Drops Dead.

W. A. Holbrook, an architect who drew plans for many buildings in Stevens Point a number of years ago, died suddenly in Milwaukee last Saturday. He was crossing State street bridge on his bicycle when he fell over and passed away before he could be removed to a hospital. Mr. Holbrook was about 60 years of age and at one time was associated with the late E. T. Mix, also of the same city. Among the plans Mr. Holbrook furnished here were the High, 1st and 3d ward schools, the N. Gross, Bosworth and Boyington residences and the Masonic Temple.

Miss Mary Hanley.

Miss Mary Hanley, whose death at her home in the town of Lanark was briefly mentioned last week, she having passed away on the 19th inst., was born in County Sligo, Ireland, 55 years ago. She leaves an only brother, Thos. Hanley, of Lanark, a cousin, Mrs. Anna Myers, of Amherst, and two nieces, Ida and Mamie Cronk, of Ashland. The funeral took place from St. Patrick's church, Lanark, at 10 o'clock on Monday, 21st inst., Rev. J. E. Meagher officiating. The pallbearers were Ed. Cooney, Wm. Loftis, Mike Hopkins, Ed. Hopkins, Mike Riley and Henry Hargrove.

ORATORS AT OSHKOSH

State Normal Schools Hold Annual Talk Fest—Stevens Point Gets Sixth Place.

George B. Everson, the orator from the Stevens Point Normal, was awarded sixth place in the state oratorical contest at Oshkosh last Friday night. The fact that Mr. Everson stood as low as he did by no means signifies that his effort was unworthy. His delivery was equal to that of any of his competitors, while his oration was an excellent piece of work. Indeed, many of the visitors from outside schools thought him deserving of a much higher place. Stevens Point sent the largest delegation of any Normal in the state, about forty-five of the students being on hand to root for Everson. The crowd went down Friday morning in a special coach, and the majority returned by the 7:30 train Saturday morning. A drum corps was taken along, and this, combined with some good yelling, demonstrated that Stevens Point was in the game all the time. At the mass meeting held in the opera house Friday afternoon, Mr. Spindler delivered a very good talk in behalf of the local delegation. At the regular program in the evening Miss Menaul rendered a very pleasing vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Blanche Hill. The next contest will be held at La Crosse, the new addition to the Normal ranks, and in 1912 will be held here. River Falls' representative took first place at Oshkosh and will again give his oration at the inter-state contest; second honors went to Whitewater and Milwaukee took third.

NORMAL NOTES.

Vacation next week. Howard V. Welty sang at rhetoricals last Friday. "Strawberry" Hill and Rial Cummings were visitors Tuesday. Prof. Gardner has been out of school for several days on account of illness. The quarter ends this week and the final examinations are already in progress. A. P. Een, county superintendent of schools, has been conducting teachers' examination at the Normal this week. About fifty people are taking the exam. It has been decided by the Athletic Association to have a track team this year instead of a base ball team, and the boys have already started practice, altho work will not begin in earnest until after vacation.

Mr. Sims has been making some extended travels lately. Last week he was at Chicago and from there went to the contest at Oshkosh. Upon his return he went to Colby, returning from there a couple of days ago with Mrs. Sims. Thursday last Will H. Thompson, a western lawyer and a civil war veteran, delivered a most interesting address to the school on "Abraham Lincoln from a Southern Standpoint." Mr. Thompson has an excellent voice and the tribute he paid to Lincoln was very eloquent.

Tuesday afternoon City Supt. Davis spoke to the school on the rise of the schools in the south. Mr. Davis exhibited several of the antique text books of the "before the war" period, and these, together with some decidedly humorous anecdotes which he told, lent an unusual interest to his talk. On the Friday after vacation, April 15th, the Junior debate with Oshkosh will take place in the assembly room. The Junior debaters are Geo. Batty, Fred Ambrose and Nugent Glennon. They will uphold the affirmative of the question: "Resolved, that a graduated income tax would be a desirable modification of our present system of taxation." As this is a good live question and the boys have put many weeks of study on it, it is hoped that a large crowd will turn out. Admission 25 cents.

HULL NOW AT THE HEAD

Well Known Merchant President of Fair Association and a Good Set of Officers Chosen Throughout.

A majority of stock was represented at the annual meeting of stockholders of the Stevens Point Fair Association, held at the council rooms Friday evening. After the minutes of the previous annual meeting had been read, the secretary, R. K. McDonald, and treasurer, L. R. Anderson, presented their annual reports. The secretary's report was as follows:

DISBURSEMENTS
Free attractions, night races and band.....$ 733.35
Secretary's office expenses..... 153.99
Advertising and printing..... 893.24
Repairs on grounds, etc..... 345.32
Races and race expenses..... 1,615.00
Other expenses..... 1,786.42
Premiums..... 1,520.75
Total.....$7,048.07

The receipts were $7,031.59, leaving a balance due of $16.48, against which there is an over-draft of $5.48 and an outstanding check of $11. Other bills unpaid amount to $741.94, including a balance of $50 due the secretary as salary, which he said he would donate to the Association, and this still leaves an indebtedness of $691.94. The reports were accepted and placed on file. It was unanimously decided, upon motion of F. A. Krembs, to hold a fair and race meeting this year and a committee composed of Dr. E. H. Rogers, L. S. Hull, L. R. Anderson, R. B. Johnson and M. E. Bruce were appointed to present the names of 21 persons to act as directors for the ensuing year. The committee reported as follows:

Geo. B. Nelson, A. E. Bourn, R. K. McDonald, T. H. Hanna, L. S. Hull, H. H. Pagel, M. E. Bruce, Jas. Mainland, L. R. Anderson, H. J. Finch, John Martini, G. L. Park, A. C. Krembs, E. H. Rothman, C. E. Wert, W. A. Gething, Geo. W. Allen, Daniel Corlett, Harold Webb, Elliott Martin and E. W. Sellers. The recommendation of the committee was ratified by unanimous ballot of the stockholders for their election. A committee consisting of G. L. Park, R. K. McDonald and W. A. Gething, was authorized to examine the records and settle with Dr. Nimmann on a disputed claim. The question of again joining a race circuit was left to the directors with power to act. The meeting of stockholders then adjourned and the directors, 14 of whom were present, convened.

A. C. Krembs and G. L. Park were appointed as tellers and an informal ballot taken for president gave L. S. Hull 9 votes, H. J. Finch 2, A. E. Bourn 2 and L. R. Anderson 1. Upon motion the ballot was made formal and Mr. Hull declared elected. The secretary was instructed to cast the ballot of directors for L. R. Anderson as vice president and he was elected without opposition. For secretary Bourn received 10 votes, McDonald 1, Martini 1, Park 1 and Allen 1. The first named was declared elected. For treasurer Pagel received 10 votes, Anderson 2, McDonald 2. The election of the first named was declared unanimous. The secretary was authorized to attend a meeting of fair representatives, which will soon be held at Merrill for the purpose of deciding upon a race circuit, and if he cannot attend to send a substitute. The meeting adjourned.

Lecture Postponed.

The lecture announced to be given in this city by M. K. Reilly, of Fond du Lac, under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, has been postponed from next Monday evening until the following Wednesday or Monday. All members and others interested will be notified in due time.

Big Timber Deal.

A dispatch from Portland, Oregon, says that Henry Turrish, a wealthy lumberman from Duluth, well known in this city and county, his former home, is negotiating for the purchase of a Columbia county tract of more than 40,000 acres of fir timber from the Benson Logging and Manufacturing company of that city. It is understood that Mr. Turrish and his associate, A. J. Keith, have made a preliminary payment in the transaction which, if closed, will be the largest timber deal ever made in Oregon. If the sale is concluded, it will rival the sale a few years ago by the Northern Pacific of 44,000 acres of timber land to the Weyerhaeuser interests for $4,000,000.

Lad Saves a Train.

A dispatch from Portage says that fifteen year old Wm. Mills, residing near Packwaukee, saved the Portage and Stevens Point passenger train on the Soo line from being wrecked Thursday afternoon. People were engaged in burning a marsh between Packwaukee and Montello and the fire, unnoticed, spread to the Soo tracks, burning a number of telegraph poles and causing them to fall across the roadbed at a point in the borders of Buffalo lake, where a sharp curve occurs. Young Mills happened along the track, and being aware that the passenger train was about due, he ran down the road waving a large bandana handkerchief. The train was approaching and Engineer Russell received the warning, stopping just in time to avert a collision with the telegraph poles. The passengers assisted the trainmen in removing the obstructions and young Mills was congratulated by all for his presence of mind. To Conductor Hegyan young Mills said: "I simply could not lift them big poles off the track, though I tugged away for several minutes, so I stopped you."

MATTERS IN CIRCUIT COURT

Important Business Done Within the Week—Jennings Gets Seven Years at Waupun.

Frederick E. Pinkham vs. Wisconsin Central Railway. This was the case in which the plaintiff sued for $10,000 for alleged injuries received a couple of years ago near St. Paul. Very damaging evidence against the plaintiff, as to his character for a number of years past, was introduced by the attorneys for the defendant company. The jury rendered a verdict of no cause for action. Mrs. Jane Pinkham, wife of the defendant, was plaintiff in a like action, asking $15,000 damages, but when the case brought by the husband met with such a determined knock-out, her case was dropped, their attorney, W. H. Thompson, of Seattle, entering into a satisfactory stipulation with the attorneys for the company.

W. E. Kingsbury vs. F. R. Sellers. Judgment for plaintiff for $145.70. Mary Jessie Cartwright vs. Arthur Cartwright. Waupaca county special. Interlocutory judgment of divorce.

Miller, Watt & Co. vs. Frank Boyanowski. At the conclusion of the taking of testimony the court took the case out of the hands of the jury and directed a verdict for the plaintiffs for $910.70.

State vs. Wm. Welch. Defendant found guilty of selling oleomargarine at the Soo lunch counter in this city without having complied with the laws governing the same. Defendant found guilty by the court, but by mutual consent sentence was deferred until such time as it may be convenient to take the matter up. The Central railroad company is the real defendant in the case, which will no doubt be appealed to the supreme court for final determination.

In the cases of the state vs. Albert Klish and Paul Shepreau, saloonkeepers in this city who were charged with selling liquor to a minor under 17 years of age, both of whom entered pleas of guilty, the court imposed a fine of $25 and costs in each case, amounting to $29.81, which sums were paid.

State vs. Wm. Jennings. Defendant had entered a plea of guilty to having set fire to the home of Mrs. Mary Cole, in the 6th ward, last July. Upon being asked by Judge Webb if he had anything to say before judgment was pronounced, he replied that Mrs. Cole needed money more than she needed the house, and in sympathy for her, without any knowledge on her part, he burned the dwelling so that she might get the insurance money. After making his statement to the state fire marshal, the latter promised to intercede in his behalf, Jennings said, so that the court would be lenient with him, which was confirmed by the district attorney. He said he had been in prison twice before, the first time for five years and the other time for one year, is 51 years of age, has a wife and four children, the youngest 17 years old. He thought he should receive about two years for this crime, but as the penalty is from three to ten years, the court sentenced him to seven years, the third day to be spent in solitary confinement.

Eva V. Jeffers, as administratrix of the estate of Louis Jeffers, vs. Green Bay & Western R. R. Louis Jeffers was a switchman for the defendant company, and while in the discharge of his duties was killed Nov. 3, 1908, in the yards at Green Bay. He was a former resident of Almond, this county. The plaintiff is represented by Walter D. Corrigan of Milwaukee and M. C. Phillips of Oshkosh. The company is represented by H. O. Fairchild of Green Bay, and B. B. Park of this city. The case has been on trial all this week.

High School Notes.

There are only ten more weeks of school left. The "Nooz" for March was distributed last week.

The piano question like some volcanoes, lies dormant just now, but some day it will burst forth with double force upon the unsuspecting members of the board.

After Easter vacation the physical geography class will take up observation. This will consist in observing the local conditions of the sky and clouds, direction of the winds, the temperature and atmospheric pressure.

The extension bureau of the University of Wisconsin will probably send up a stereopticon and slide illustrating the life of the Romans during the days of Caesar. It is intended primarily for the Latin scholars, but will be of interest to all students.

The basket ball team disbanded for the year. Although they did not get to the tournament, yet they have a record to feel proud of. They have met and defeated the Normals, Marshfield and Wausau. Wausau is, directly or indirectly, the victor in a long chain of games, among which may be mentioned Marshfield, Weyauwega and Grand Rapids. The Highs met defeat at Merrill and Waupaca. Guy Love was captain of the team.

The Junior prom, last night was a great success. Now in saying it was a success we do not refer to the financial side. It was not given to make money. It was a success in that it was enjoyed by everyone. After the dance at the Odd Fellows hall, refreshments were served. A program was given at the High school for those who could not or did not wish to dance. Ice cream and wafers were served at the close, and the orchestra played several musical numbers.

JOHN GARDINER DEAD

Well Known Resident of Spencer and Pioneer of Stevens Point Dies—Remains Will Be Brought Here.

John Gardiner, the well known Spencer lumberman and stockraiser, passed away at his home in that village at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, his death being directly due to pneumonia, brought on by an accident with which he met last Wednesday evening. At that time he went to his barn for the purpose of feeding his stock, climbing a wall ladder to the hay loft. As he was about to descend, he grasped a step with one hand and stepped forward, but missed the step with his foot and fell to the floor below, a distance of about 9 feet. Mr. Gardiner was carried into his home and medical assistance procured, a Marshfield physician being summoned to assist the local doctor. It was found that his right hip was dislocated and crushed, while the leg was also broken at the thigh. Everything possible was done for his relief, but pneumonia appeared later and Mr. Gardiner failed rapidly to the end.

John Gardiner was born at Mariatown, Canada, and was in the 73rd year of his age. His parents came to the United States about 67 years ago, locating near Evansville, Wis., and in 1852 came to Stevens Point where both parents died, the mother living until one year ago when she passed away aged 92 years. The father died very suddenly shortly after their arrival here and it was incumbent upon the older children, of whom John was one, to look after the welfare of the widow and the younger children, and after he became old enough to work he was employed as a woodsman and later was engaged in hauling freight. He also served as city marshal for one or more years.

Mr. Gardiner was married to Miss Jennie Swan of Lanark about forty years ago and some ten years later they moved to Spencer, which had been their home ever since, and where he was engaged in lumbering and stock-raising, having at one time owned and operated a saw mill. He was also extensively engaged in farming lands and was considered well-to-do.

Besides his widow, Mr. Gardiner leaves two sons, Oscar and Don Gardiner and two daughters, Mrs. F. B. Hand and Mrs. John Kennedy, all of whom reside in Washington and are now on their way east to attend the funeral. He also leaves two brothers and five sisters, James Gardiner of this city, Almon Gardiner of Hancock, Mrs. Ellen McAuley, Mrs. Jane Curtis and Mrs. Owen Clark of this city, Mrs. Emaline Comstock of Sioux City, Iowa, and Mrs. H. H. Rose of Reader, N. D.

Mr. Gardiner was a lover of good horses and at different times owned some fast steppers. He was always an attendant at the fairs in this city and vicinity and generally had horses which took part in the races. He was a gentleman in whom all who knew him had implicit confidence, being endowed with sterling character and integrity and unquestioned honesty. The announcement of his death brings sadness to many hearts in Stevens Point and elsewhere.

Funeral services will be held at Spencer, after which the remains will be brought to this city for interment, but the time of the funeral could not be learned today. It is probable that it will take place either Friday or Saturday.

Read It Carefully.

"Some plain census facts" is the caption of a two column article on the third page of this issue, which contains a picture of Asst. Director Willoughby and gives some sound reasons why all should assist in making the work perfect. It is not the purpose of census enumerators to pry into anybody's private affairs, and officials are bound by oath not to disclose information received except to the proper departments. Refusal to answer proper questions is a violation of law, and the party thus refusing can be arrested and punished by a maximum fine of $100.

Mrs. J. O. Foxen Dies.

Mrs. J. O. Foxen, of Amherst, wife of the chairman of the county board, passed away at her home at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, the end of an illness of over one year, the past several months of which she had been confined to her bed. Mrs. Foxen was 55 years of age and is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Anton Anderson, of Manitowoc, besides two sisters, Mrs. M. S. Murat, of Amherst, and Mrs. S. F. Foxen, of this city. The deceased lady was one of the most esteemed ladies of our neighboring village, where she had resided nearly all her life, and many friends throughout the county extend sympathy to those who are left to mourn.

The funeral will take place from the Lutheran church at Amherst at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, Rev. G. A. Sundby officiating.

WAS A PIONEER OF DEWEY

Mrs. Edward McHugh Passed Away Last Night After Illness of Three Years—Funeral Friday.

Mrs. Margaret McHugh, widow of the late Edward McHugh of the town of Dewey, passed away at her home at 10 o'clock last evening after suffering for the past three years with cancer of the stomach. During this time she had been able to be about except at intervals and in fact was around the house as late as Monday last and was able to converse with those at her bedside up to within a few minutes before the final dissolution.

Margaret Sinnott was born in Ireland about 75 years ago and came to America when a girl. She was married in Kentucky in the latter 50's to Edward McHugh and they came to Stevens Point in 1890, locating in what is now the town of Dewey, 10 miles north of this city, and which had been the family homestead for the past half century. Mr. McHugh died July 29, 1896, after serving his town in various official capacities for many years. They are survived by eight sons and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Iverson of Rhineland, James McHugh of Dewey, Thomas McHugh of Sand Point, Idaho, and John, Edward, Matthew, Martin, Frank, Miss Kate and Richard, all of whom reside in Dewey, all of the sons being unmarried except Thomas. Robt. Elcock, a well known veteran resident of that township, has made his home with the McHugh's since the death of his wife two or three years ago.

Mrs. McHugh was a most estimable lady, one of nature's noblewomen, much admired by all who shared her acquaintance. The McHugh home has always been one of the most hospitable in Portage county and the now deceased lady, who was at its head, ever had a welcome greeting and a place about the fireside or at the family table for all who called.

The funeral will take place at the Knowlton Catholic church at 10 o'clock Friday forenoon, Rev. Father Wojak of Grand Rapids officiating.

Loss Little Daughter.

John Helbach, one of Buena Vista's prominent farmers, returned from Minneapolis on the 2:55 o'clock train last Saturday afternoon, bringing with him the remains of his second daughter, Gertrude, who passed away at 12:10 o'clock Friday noon. Mr. Helbach was accompanied here by his brother, Peter, the latter's wife and two daughters, and shortly after their arrival they drove to the Helbach home in Buena Vista. Funeral services for little Gertrude were held at St. Martin's church, Almond, at 10 o'clock Monday morning interment following in the parish cemetery.

The girl had lived with her uncle's family for the past three years in order to have advantage of the Minneapolis schools, where she was proving a bright scholar. Two weeks ago yesterday she was taken with pneumonia and the middle of last week her condition became alarming. Mr. Helbach was summoned Wednesday night, reaching his daughter's bedside the following morning, when she appeared much better and strong hopes were entertained for recovery. A relapse set in that night and she continued to sink until the final dissolution. Mr. and Mrs. Helbach have three other children, two girls and a boy, to comfort them in their deep affliction. This is the third death in the family within a few years.

WARNING TO HOUSEWIVES

Anti-Tuberculosis Association Asks That Great Care be Exercised in Dust Disposal.

"Dust, refuse and sweepings should always be burned," says a warning issued by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association. The warning is particularly appropriate now, when housecleaning time approaches. "Dust is one of the greatest communicators of consumption and the greatest care should be exercised in its disposal. Now that furnaces and stoves are still in use it is a simple matter to drop sweepings, etc., into the fire, a few drops of oil being added if necessary." The use of feather dusters and similar devices for sweeping and housecleaning is urged against, they tending to stir up dust. Damp cloths should be substituted because they are more sanitary and actually remove the dust instead of spreading it. Brushes should be used in lieu of brooms. It is better to moisten dust by means of damp paper, tea leaves or sweeping compounds. Now that the vacuum cleaner is in wide use for housecleaning, it is pointed out that the refuse from the cleaners should always be burned. By disposing of it in this way, instead of throwing it into back yards or alleys, disease germs are not spread from house to house. This is especially important as concerning particularly consumption and pneumonia. It is not sufficient for one to get the dust out of his own home, but it should not be spread to neighbors' homes. Co-operation in this for self-protection is urged. In this season of high winds and dusty streets it is particularly urged that the public agitate for early street sprinkling. Merchants protest against dust because they wish to protect their merchandise. When money or property loss is involved, it is easy to put through a vigorous campaign for reform. Human life should be reckoned as at least equally valuable and a fight made for its protection.

Most housekeepers are using K C Baking Powder these days. A single trial shows it to be a great improvement over the old-style Baking Powders and a fine economy in any household. K C costs less, works better.

Board of Education Represents Petition of Teachers For Vacation of This Week in the Fourth—Other Business.

The Board of Education held a special meeting last Wednesday evening, the members present being Rogers, Shumway, Young, Blood, Clements, Wozalla, Simonson and Dittman. A petition from the teachers in the 4th ward asking the board to rescind its action requiring them to teach this week, and not granting the usual spring vacation, was read and thoroughly discussed by the board, after which all voted against granting the prayer of the petitioners. Consequently the 4th ward pupils and teachers are having no vacation this week, although it is understood that eight of the twelve members expressed themselves in favor of granting the vacation, in addition to the three weeks given the 4th ward school last fall, before this special meeting was held. The committee on repairs were authorized to remove the old dry closet system from the 3d ward building, it having been replaced some months ago by a flush system. The same committee were authorized to make arrangements for enlarging the quarters occupied by the school for the deaf, in accordance with the recommendations made by Mr. Winne, state superintendent of these schools, when he recently visited this city. The room in the 1st ward building, used by this school, is too small, especially when the regular teacher is obliged to have an assistant. Then again the superintendent recommended the introduction of domestic science and manual training into this department, for the expense of which the state is willing to provide liberally. The board will soon receive $500 due on last year's account.

The Price of a Lie.

To the man who lies, the angel said, "Repentance should wait. Put truth in place of all you said, before it is too late."

With human pride he answered said, "I know my guilty state, But I will not retract one word, Although it's getting late."

First wings of time the angel him on, "You have reached the golden gate, The man he injured had passed through, But this man was too late."

The book of life lay open there, To judge this reprobate, To write for the lie he told, Was just one day too late.

No friend was there to plead his cause, To lead him away with silly prate, He saw how useless friends could be, He saw there weakness when too late.

Just how he felt on tongue can tell, With scolding he said, "The lie he told in former years, Had never changed, though it was late, For every lie he ever told, He held in bitter hate, He should have restitution made, But now it was too late."

So, Peter stands with key in hand, The vigil of the gate, The portals still are closed on high, He saw his faults too late.

With sorrow he bows his head, Stands face to face with fate, He says, "I'm sorry I ever lied, But O! I am too late."

MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Cost of Maintaining the Various Departments of Our City Government Discussed Wednesday Evening.

There was a well attended meeting of the Business Men's Association at the library club rooms, Thursday evening last, at which time a 7 o'clock banquet was served by the ladies of St. Paul's M. E. church and music was furnished by Weber's orchestra. The meeting was called to order by Pres. H. J. Finch, after which E. W. Sellers, chairman of the advertising committee, spoke of the plan arranged for securing articles upon Stevens Point as a business and residence point, and said that a small advertisement had also been placed in two of the leading periodicals of the country.

In the absence of Prof. F. F. Showers on account of illness, Rev. J. A. Stemen pointed out and explained figures on an immense chart that had been prepared by Mr. Showers, showing the relative cost of maintaining the different branches of government, their schools, etc., in 19 other cities in the state as compared with Stevens Point, and which showed up very favorably for us in most instances. T. H. Hanna followed up along this line, saying he had no thought of roasting either the school board or the teachers, and recognized that it was very easy for people to stand upon the streets or corners and find fault. The figures produced by Mr. Showers would indicate that other cities, some of them at least, stood better as to cost of maintenance. This question was followed up by Pres. Young and Supt. Davis, both of whom had secured figures and facts from a number of other places that showed up much more favorably for Stevens Point. While the cost of running the public schools in some places about the size of this city may be somewhat less, it is also true that our school year comprises 40 weeks, while but 36 or 38 weeks' work is done in the other towns mentioned.

W. J. Shumway discussed fire and police departments, paying deserved compliments to the efficiency of both. He also spoke upon taxation, a question, he said, that is as old as the world, and upon which those who pay the taxes are never satisfied. Returning to the cost of maintaining our fire department, he said that about one-third of present annual cost of over $10,000 could be saved by having one central fire house instead of two as at present, the rate of insurance would not be raised, and the amount saved would in due time pay the cost of erecting a city hall. The insurance rate here is among the lowest in the state, due to the fact that we have had but few fires for several years and these of little consequence.

W. H. Coye presented a short but excellent paper on taxation, in which he advocated a more comprehensive system of bookkeeping in the city offices, so that the cost of improving streets and expenses generally could be ascertained at a glance, and the taxpayer then would know where his money goes to, if he desires to take the time to investigate. M. E. Bruce spoke highly of Stevens Point's schools, and others who made suggestions were E. McGlachlin, A. R. Week and H. J. Finch, the meeting closing with a story by Rev. Stemen.

PREJUDICE.

Curious to state, prejudice keeps us out of more good things than does lack of opportunity.

We often pass by an article of merit because the price is low. The same article at double the price would find us eager to try it. K C Baking Powder sells for one-third the price of the Baking Powders controlled by the "Trust."

Yet K C is guaranteed the Best Baking Powder at any price.

The ladies of this city who have seen what K C Baking Powder will do prefer it to any other. They are only too glad to save their money and get a better article. It's the difference between "Trust" prices and those of fair, honest competition.

A 25 ounce can of K C Baking Powder for 25 cents—and your money returned if you don't like it better.

Do not neglect indigestion which leads to all sorts of ills and complications. An eminent doctor once said that ninety-five per cent. of all the ills of the human body have their origin in a disordered stomach.

A physician who made a specialty of stomach troubles, particularly dyspepsia, after years of study perfected the formula from which Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are made.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be the greatest remedy known for the relief of acute indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. Their ingredients are soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, one of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is almost immediate. Their use with persistency and regularity for a short time brings about a cessation of the pains caused by stomach disorders.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will insure healthy appetite, aid digestion and promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, we ask you to try them at our risk. Kelly, of Bozeman, Mont., who will be in Stevens Point for a month or more, with headquarters at the Arlington House, where you can call on or address him, represents four large land companies, located at Bozeman, Livingston, Big Timber and Billings. Price $47 per acre, including one-third of the present crop, until harvest.

No. 135.—240 acres, south of Bozeman six miles, 125 acres of it in grass, 75 acres to be put into spring grain, timber enough on the place for fuel; 8 rooms, pantry and cellar, fine large barn, 50x60; fenced with 3 and 4 wire fence, good water right, apples and small fruit; one mile from school. Price $50 per acre; a handy place.

This place has about 500 acres that can be plowed, is a firstclass winter wheat ranch, and the price is so reasonable that it will appeal to anybody wanting a fall wheat ranch. Price only $23 per acre.

No. 196.—520 acres of fine land, 1 mile from depot, postoffice and school; extra good layout for parties wanting so large a tract of tillable land; very little waste on this place; two sets of buildings, excellent water right, large part of the place in meadow, has sheep shed for 2,500 head of sheep; good place to winter them. To appreciate this place one has to see it. Price $52 per acre.

No. 197.—Something over 900 acres of fine land, good for mixed farming, stock, grain or hay; has firstclass water right, and has about 450 acres under irrigation; has about 300 acres now under cultivation, which raises about 500 tons of alfalfa hay, besides grain; has fine barn, good six room house and some outbuildings. This place will support about 400 head of cattle and the implements go with the place. Price $19,000. Cattle can be bought if wanted, about 250 of them now on the place.

No. 38.—200 acres 4 1/2 miles from Bozeman, 1 mile from interurban line; about 110 acres under cultivation, most of which is in hay; remainder of the place is in brush, but about 25 acres of this is ready for a brush scythe and then can be plowed; very best of land. Has a good water right, sufficient for the land, has a 5-room log house, log stable and four head of horses and several cows, frame granary. Land cornering this place, (no better land or improvements) is held for $50 per acre, and we can sell this for $50 per acre. For a man willing to put in some work for the advance in value, this is an extra bargain.

No. 132.—720 acres 6 miles south of Bozeman, about 350 acres under cultivation and the remainder pasture; has fair buildings of all kinds needed, good orchard, firstclass water right, down hill pull to markets. About 20 head of horses, 40 cows and all machinery go with the place. Hay on the place is now netting the owner $25 per acre. Any one wanting a combination stock and grain ranch, or a dairy place, this will suit. Price $50 per acre.

No. 120 1/2.—120 acres of fine land 5 miles from Belgrade, good roads all the way. No. 1 water right, poor house, but small barn in good condition. Land lies level and fine; small stream runs through the place, having running water the year around; practically every foot of the place is under cultivation; interurban extension is surveyed right by the place, which when built will advance the price at least $10 per acre, and every irrigation is that the road will be built this coming summer. This place is really worth the price asked, $65 per acre.

No. 121.—900 acres, something like 150 acres under cultivation and more can be put under; the remainder of the place is good pasture, making it a fine stock and grain ranch, with plenty of hay for a small bunch of stock, say 150 head; 13 miles from railroad, but has telephone to the house, daily mail in the neighborhood, poor buildings, but can get along with them; two streams of water through the place, some brush for stock shelter. This place is bound to advance in value. Price $100 per acre.

Fractures Left Ankle.

Fred Hass, 1234 Church street, an employe of the Phoenix Wall Paper Co., had the bones in his left ankle fractured and the joint strained, Monday forenoon. Hass was taking a couple of rolls of paper to the second floor, when the elevator in some manner failed to work and fell rapidly to the floor below. When it suddenly stopped, one of the rolls struck Hass with the result stated. He was attended by Drs. Rogers and von Neupert.

Has Vivid Imagination.

The "Pat Burns Grocery Club" is an imaginary organization at Wausau, to which Will Brawley, editor of the Sun, devotes a couple of columns each week in a very clever manner, now and then making brother quill-drivers feel as though they were worth a million, whereas their actual wealth on hand or in prospect may not be over thirty cents. Spring coats, automobiles and like luxuries belong only to those who are able to "ride in chaises."

Industrial Committee Chosen.

H. J. Finch, president of the Business Men's Association, has appointed the following committee to solicit the $25,000 capital stock to be used in promoting new industries in Stevens Point: Win. Rothman, A. M. Coppe, J. A. Stemen, Alex. Ringness, Will Moll, Jas. Mainland and M. E. Bruce. Stock will be offered at $50 per share, of which 20 per cent. is payable on the first call and $5 per share per month until the balance is paid. Stockholders will have the privilege of voting upon all propositions which may be brought up, but it is expected that most of the details will be attended to by a board of five directors to be elected. The main purpose of the organization is to re-locate established industries that may wish to move here from other sections of the country, but all money not used for the purpose of buying stock in these plants will be loaned at a satisfactory rate of interest so that the stockholders are almost absolutely sure of good returns on their investments. It is hoped and believed that the committee of hustlers above mentioned will have little or no difficulty in raising the entire capital stock.

After a Long Illness.

Frank Dzurdziels, or Jurgella, this being the way his name was most frequently spelled, passed away last Saturday night after a long illness with Bright's disease. The deceased resided in the town of Hull, just east of the Plover hills, and was one of the Polish pioneers of this county, having lived here for over thirty years. He was born in Poland 70 years ago, coming to America in 1870, and for about eight years lived in Pennsylvania. Soon after his arrival in Stevens Point he purchased the farm upon which he had lived ever since. He was a supervisor of his town at the time of his death, and had served for a number of years. The widow, four sons and five daughters survive. The funeral took place from St. Peter's church in this city at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, Rev. S. A. Elbert officiating, with interment in the parish cemetery.

ELECTION NOTICE.

Office of City Clerk, Stevens Point Wis., March 28, 1910

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF STEVENS POINT, WISCONSIN:

Notice is hereby given that a municipal election is to be held in the several wards and election precincts in the city of Stevens Point on the fifth day of April, A. D. 1910.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters: The voter, upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have endorsed thereon, the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. The ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of preparing the ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any way whom to vote for. To vote for any candidate, the voter shall make a cross in the square after the name of each candidate he desires to vote for, or at any place within this space in which the name is printed. If he wishes to vote for a person for a certain office, whose name is not on the ballot, he must write the name in the blank space under the printed name of the candidate for the office, and place a cross or mark as above stated. The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If any ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another one in its stead, but not more than three (3) in all to any one voter. Five (5) minutes is the time allowed in the booth to mark the ballot. Unofficial ballot or memoranda to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it is marked by the voter. After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed endorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place. The voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that for any reason or disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have the assistance of one or two election officers in the marking of the same to be chosen by the voter, and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the city. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion as to such person's disability.

Candidates for the different municipal and ward offices can file nomination papers up to and including Thursday, March 31, 1910.

The polls and voting places in the several wards will be as follows: First ward, Engine House No. 1, North 2d street; Second ward, Engine House No. 2, Stronge avenue; Third ward, Election Booth, Fremont street; Fourth ward, Olsen's Boarding House, corner First and Franklin streets; Fifth ward, Election Booth, Dixon street; Sixth ward, Election Booth, Henrietta street.

Said polls will be open at 6 o'clock in the morning and close at 7 o'clock in the evening of said day. Said election to be held and conducted, votes canvassed and returns made, in accordance with law.

Given under my hand and official seal at the city of Stevens Point, this 29th day of March, A. D. 1910.

SQUARING THE CIRCLE.
An Ancient Problem That Has Turned Many Brains Dizzy.
The oldest of problems is that of squaring the circle—i. e., of telling the precise length of the side of a square whose area will equal the area of a given circle.

The first attempt we know of was made 500 years before the Exodus of the Jews. Since at least 1500 B. C. Chinese brains have turned over it. The oldest mathematical book in the world—written about 2000 B. C. by Ahmes, scribe to an Egyptian king and now resting in the British Museum—pretends to solve it but it doesn't. Our old friend Euclid prudently avoids the subject.

Books have been written to prove that it is impossible, others to prove the impossibility of proving its impossibility, others again to prove the impossibility of proving its possibility.

One scientist—a professor of Zurich adopted some fifty years ago a rather original method of tackling the problem. He divided the floor of a great loft into thousands of small squares and spent his days in solemnly throwing needles about and noting the number of times they fell clear of the chalk lines, but it did not help him much.

The important ratio which would settle the question has been carried to 500 places of decimals. And still it is not exact. If you have a taste for sums you can start and carry it to 600 and see what happens.

At any rate, you will soon find your hair getting grayer.—London Answers.

COLOSSAL ARCTURUS
The Fourth Brightest Star in All the Heavens.
IN REALITY A MONSTER SUN.

It is Thought to Be at Least a Hundred Times Larger Than Our Sun in Diameter and is About Nine Hundred and Fifty Million Miles Distant.

Most of us are prone to think of our sun as being the largest body in the heavens, the grand high lord of all the little planets and the twinkling stars. Such is very far from being the case. Practically all of the fixed and twinkling stars are as large as, and some even larger than, our own sun. They appear small only because of their great distance, for they are just as truly suns with families of planets flying around them as is our central orb.

There is one of these stars in particular that has attracted the attention of astronomers, not only on account of its great size, but also its enormous distance from our solar system. This is the star Arcturus. To have some conception of the almost inconceivable distance that separates it from us the astronomical standard of measuring distance must be comprehended. Now, light does not come from a luminous body instantaneously to our eyes. It takes time to come, because it is a wave motion in a medium. The velocity of light as most recently determined is about 186,000 miles a second. Multiply this by the number of seconds in a year and we have a distance known in astronomy as a light year. Therefore when a star is say six trillion miles away we say it is one light year off, which means that the light from the star takes one year to reach us. It may be of some interest to know that there is no fixed star less than ten light years away, or sixty trillion miles. This is the one known as Alpha Centauri. Most of the stars are much farther even than that. Arcturus being the farthest one measured to date.

Arcturus is thought to be at least a hundred times larger than the sun in diameter. That would make it 10,000 times larger in surface, or the dimension that is ordinarily compared. By means of the photometer its brightness has been determined to be 6,200 times that of the sun. It is the fourth brightest star in all the heavens. Sirius, the dog star, being first in brightness. As regards the distance from us, it has been found to be a little over 160 light years, or 950 trillion miles. This distance, of course, cannot be conceived by mortal man, it is so stupendous and amazing. However, one can get a slight idea of it by means of an everyday analogy. Think of the fastest express train going at the rate of 100 miles an hour toward such a star and compute the time it would take. It is found to be in round numbers exactly 120,000,000 years! Now, as we know that it has taken its light so long to come to us and as there are a great many stars whose distance has never been measured exactly, but which have been computed to be approximately several million light years away, we have absolute proof of the great age of the world and the stellar universe.

The elements composing the sun Arcturus are, peculiarly enough, very nearly the same as our sun. As it is one of the most wonderful and astounding things that a scientist can tell what a star so far away is composed of, a small explanation of the modus operandi would not come amiss here. It is done by means of a small instrument known as the spectroscope, which consists of glass prisms so arranged as to split up the light falling on them into its constituent parts. Now, every substance has the power to cause a certain color or line in the spectroscope if it is in a luminous condition, so this instrument is simply pointed at the star whose composition is sought, and if any line is found that corresponds to a substance that we know about we assume that this substance is found in the star examined.

Another interesting thing is the method pursued in determining the great distance of the stars. This is done by determining their parallax or angle made at the star between two rays from the earth striking at two different points in space. As the greatest distance that we can measure off in this way and still take the angle is the diameter of the earth's orbit, that distance is invariably used. It is almost 200,000,000 miles, but that, as is seen, is very small compared with the enormous distance of the star. Now, the angle thus measured from Arcturus is only two hundredths of a second! When it is remembered that there are 90 seconds in a minute, 60 minutes in a degree and 360 degrees in a circle, it is at once seen what a small angle the parallax is and how correct the astronomer has to be in his observations. Indeed, for a long time before modern instruments were used, no stars distance could be found for there was seen no parallax formed and thus the old theory was held that since the stars did not change their bright disposition.

Guess This Is So.

NEBULA HYPOTHESIS.

One of the Most Interesting Propositions of Science.

WHAT IT ACTUALLY MEANS.

That the Sun, Planets and All Matter
Were Once a Vast Mass of Incandescent Gas All Jumbled Together in an Enormous Chaotic Cloud.

Everybody has heard the phrase, the nebula hypothesis, but what is it?
In a few words this is the meaning of "nebula hypothesis": That the sun,
the planets and all that is in them
were at one time in the inconceivably remote past a vast mass of chaotic, incandescent gas all jumbled together in an enormous nebula, or cloud.

To begin with, the first conception that science has dared to make, however, takes us one step further back.
Without mentioning the origin of matter itself science conceives that in the beginning all matter was uniformly distributed throughout space—that there were no stars, no planets, no satellites, but that all space was filled with the matter we now have divided up into very fine particles some distance apart. The consistency of such material was perforce very thin indeed, much more rarefied than the highest vacuum we can obtain now by air pumps. From this state to the nebulous state the theory has a missing link, one that can only be satisfied by supposing divine command, for it assumes, in the words of Professor Todd, that "gradually centers of attraction formed and these centers pulled in toward themselves other particles. As a result of the inward falling of matter toward these centers, the collision of its particles and their friction upon each other the material masses grew hotter and hotter. Nebulae seeming to fill the entire heavens were formed—luminous fire mist, like the filmy objects still seen in the sky, though vaster and exceedingly numerous." This process is supposed to have gone on for countless ages, faster in some regions than in others. Many million nebulae were formed and set in rotation around their own axes. This happily can be explained by science.
Whenever particles are attracted toward a center and are kept from falling directly to this center a whirlpool is formed, rotating in one direction.
An example of this, though humble and not exactly analogous, is the rotation of water in a basin when the stopper is pulled out of the bottom. Gravity attracts the water immediately above the hole, which starts flowing out, thus leaving a space to be filled.
The rest of the water rushes in from all sides to do this, and the whirlpool is the result.

Now each of these whirling nebulae became exceedingly hot, and each formed what is known as a star or sun, our sun being one. The earth and other planets had not then come into separate existence, of course, as it is supposed that they were thrown off later from the sun.

Our sun in its nebulous form and rotating swiftly on its axis gradually flattened at its poles on account of centrifugal motion. This phenomenon is entirely familiar to those who have seen a ball of clay on a potter's wheel gradually flatten. The motion was so swift and the mass so nebulous that the sun to be took the shape of a disk.
As time went on the outer part became cool and somewhat rigid, while the inner part continued its cooling and contracting. Thus the inner part drew away from the outer, leaving a ring of matter whirling around on the outside. This breaking off of the ring is supposed to be hastened by the instability of the outside to keep up the swift motion of the central mass, both on account of the slight cohesion and of the centrifugal force. But this particular part of the argument has nothing to stand on if the first law of motion is true.

In the successive stages of the sun's contraction this process was repeated over and over again, until several rings were whirling around the central
orb. They would necessarily be in the same plane. Now, these rings, not being uniform in mass or thickness, would each gradually accumulate toward the densest portion until they, too, would form a ball which would subsequently flatten, and if the substance continued nebulous and the ball was large enough they would also slough rings.

Of course the rings the sun discarded have become the planets, which,
as required by the theory, are all very nearly in the same plane. The rings that the planets formed have become moons or satellites. So we are driven to conclude that our sun at one time filled all the space from his present position to the farthest planet in the solar system.

From this theory there is another thing that we have to believe, and that is that every star in the heavens has gone through this same process and has a family of planets sailing around it, just as our sun has. It would be impossible to see these planets, of course, for it is impossible to see a star, even with the greatest telescope, except as a mere point of light.

As regards the proving of this nebula hypothesis, of course it cannot be done. But everything points to its accuracy. Many nebulae are seen even now among the stars that seem to be going through the delayed process of world forming. Around one of the planets of our own solar system, Saturn, are three rings, which are probably destined in time to become moons,
in the opinion of some scholars.—A. T.
Hodge in New York Tribune.

FEEDING THE CALF.

Care Should Be Taken When Giving It
Skim Milk and Milk.

It is well to leave the calf by itself
for at least twelve hours and, in case the calf has run with its mother for several days, possibly twenty-four hours. Attempts to feed the calf earlier than this usually do the calf no good and may injure the feeder's temper. If the calf's muzzle is held in the milk and its mouth pried open once so that it tastes the milk it will drink without the feeder being obliged to place his hand in the milk and allow the calf to suck his finger.

The calf is unable to handle hay or grain until it is a week or ten days old. During this period it is not wise to try to feed skim milk. At first the whole milk should be fed three times
a day—four pounds in the morning,
two pounds at noon and four pounds at night—at blood temperature. If about a week or ten days the calf can be fed twice daily. During this time the allowance of whole milk can be gradually increased to about twelve

MOLATEIN YOUNGSTERS. pounds. The amount depends somewhat on its ability to handle increased quantities.

The stomach of the young calf is very delicate, and all changes should be made gradually. When about two weeks old the calf, if a strong, vigorous one, can be gradually changed to skim milk. During the first day decrease the amount of the whole milk
one pound and add one pound of skim-milk, and so on each day until the change is complete. Previous to this the calf should have a little grain (corn or Kaffir cornmeal or a mixture of both) placed in its mouth immediately after drinking its milk. In this way it gets a taste of the grain and will soon go to the feed boxes and eat with a relish.

After the change to skim milk is completed the amount may be gradually increased as fast as the calf is able to consume it without scouring.
Care must be taken not to increase too rapidly. The calf is a greedy animal and will appear more hungry after drinking its milk than before, and if given too much it will soon be on the sick list. The milk fed should be weighed or measured at each feeding.
Our experience has been that a calf from three to five weeks of age can be fed from ten to twelve pounds daily, from seven to eight weeks old thirteen to sixteen pounds and when from three to five months of age can be fed eighteen to twenty pounds of milk. The milk should always be fed warm and sweet.

Ventilating the Cow Barn.

In ventilating a cow barn the aggregate cross section of intake flues should be generally nearly equal to that of the outtake flues or ventilating shafts, and these should be provided with opening and closing valves so that the size of the opening may be regulated and reduced in the coldest weather. If three intake flues are provided on each side of the stable, each four inches wide by fourteen inches long, these will be sufficient. The arrangement of ventilating shafts for taking out the foul air, as described in this stable, should be avoided where-ever possible. It is especially bad to have the ventilating shaft end under the eaves, as the draft under such conditions is always poor, and there is great danger of reverse currents, the cold air coming down one of the ventilating flues instead of going out, which tends to make the stable colder than it might otherwise be. If there is trouble of this sort in very cold weather it will be better to close one of the ventilating flues entirely, so as to compel all of the fresh cold air to enter at the ceiling through the provided intakes, so that it must mingle with the warmer air of the stable before falling to the floor.

Taking Care of Foals.

The advantages of the spring foal are that this is a natural breeding season, the foals are usually stronger, they can spend a greater proportion of their early life outdoors and will be less trouble than the fall colts. In any case, colts should not be allowed to run with the mares when at work.
In the fall they may be left in box stalls. If spring colts they should be left in the yard or paddock, preferably a grass plot, and allowed to be with the mares only when the latter are brought in for feeding during the day. This will be no hardship to the colt, there will be less risk of its being injured, and more work will be got out of the mare, because she will not fret and the colt will not be in the way on the fields.

Good Ration For Hogs.

A slop composed of soaked or boiled Kaffir corn mixed soft enough to pour easily makes the best and most economical grain ration for growing hogs obtainable. It is especially valuable for pigs on pasture, as it not only keeps them in good flesh, but makes them grow rapidly, and no other grain is necessary until fattening time.

Farm for Sale.

A farm of 200 acres, of which 140
acres are under cultivation, the balance being pasture and timber land, with good buildings, including a 12-room house, barn 36x100 ft., 18 ft. high, including a stone barn for cattle, with 13 ft. driveway, together with a barn and other buildings, machinery, and wagons, and also 35 head of cattle, 5 horses and 20 chickens, etc., for sale.

Will take some city property in exchange, part cash and balance on time.

TO THE PUBLIC.

I desire to say that when I took the thorough investigation as to the merit and curative properties of this remedy

Pinched Plums.

"Now, suppose," said the mistress.
"I had a pound of plums!"
At which point it occurred to her how much better she could illustrate

if she really had a pound of plums.
So—

"Mary," she said to a girl of eight,
"here's sixpence. Go out and get me

A few minutes and Mary had return-

"There, mum!" she said. "I pinched

KNOWLTON.

How many viewed the Aurora Borealis on the evening of Easter Sunday? The illumination from this point of observation was certainly a beautiful phenomenon, the varied lights reaching to the apex of the sky, forming a most radiant color. Our imagination could readily determine the ordinary flame color and the many shapes and forms they assumed in an infinite, transient number. We also imagined a high bridge of great length, with each approach well lighted for the arrival of the rosy colored chariot, drawn by two prancing horses, as represented in mythical lore. Then the transitory scene quickly changed to glaciers looming up the distance, white crested, with many abrupt points and angles, banners waved, lights flitted in and out in their silent beauty, and the night in its ruminous lustre truly lent its strange significance to the world. "The amber midnight smiles in dreams of dawn."

An impressive home wedding was consummated Thursday afternoon, March 21st, 1910, at 5 o'clock, when Mrs. Margaret Beedle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Beedle, well known citizens of this village, and a granddaughter of the late John Redfield, who ranked among the first and most prominent business men in Marathon county, was married to Earl Hayner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hayner, a respected family of Knowlton. There were no attendants and only the immediate relatives were present. Rev. Jacquith, pastor of the M. E. church at Mosinee, officiated at the nuptial service. The bride was handsomely gowned in a cream-like creation, which lent a sweet charm to her youthfulness. She has spent her whole life among the Knowlton people and is recognized as one of our fairest and best young ladies. The groom is a very deserving and pleasing young man. Their host of acquaintances extend congratulations to this popular young couple as they embark on the matrimonial sea. Mr. and Mrs. Hayner will remain for the present at the home of the bride's parents.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the introduction of John Stephens, an adventurer, a Massachusetts man marooned by authorities at Valparaiso, Chile. Being interested in mining operations in Bolivia, he was denounced by Chile as an insurrectionist and as a consequence was hiding. At his hotel his attention was attracted by an Englishman and a young woman. Stephens rescued the young woman from a drunken officer. He was thanked by her. Admiral of the Peruvian navy, who had been declared between Chile and Peru and offered him the office of captain. He declined that that night the Esmeralda, a Chilean vessel, should be captured. Stephens accepted the commission. Stephens met a motley crew, to which he was assigned. He gave them final instructions. They boarded the vessel. They successfully captured the vessel supposed to be the Esmeralda through strategy. Capt. Stephens gave directions for the departure of the craft. He entered the cabin in and discovered the English woman and her maid. Stephens quickly learned the wrong vessel had been captured. It was Lord Darlington's private yacht, the lord's wife and maid being aboard. He explained the situation to her ladyship. Then First Mate Tuttle laid bare the plot, saying that the Sea Queen had been taken in order to go to the Antarctic circle. Tuttle explained that on a former voyage he had learned that the Donna Isabel was lost in 1853. He had found it frozen in a huge case of ice on an island and contained much gold. Stephens consented to be the captain of the expedition.

CHAPTER XI.—Continued.

This unexpected and undesirable information seemed fairly to stun the fellows, their eyes meeting blankly. I heard Bill Anderson swear.

"The question is, how can we best dispose of them? This is no excursion for ladies, no pleasure trip of any kind, we've started on. Shall we haul some passing vessel and transship them, or shall we run in to Juan Fernandez and put them both safely ashore?"

None of the three men ventured to glance toward me, and for a long moment no answering voice spoke. Then Tuttle gave oily utterance to words of compromise.

"Blame if this don't sort o' knock me all out, sir," he acknowledged. "I don't exactly cotton to either of those ideas of yours, an' I don't know what is best. I guess I'll have to talk it over with my mates here first, but you can tell them ladies that we'll get 'em out somehow before we turn south. Anyhow, they don't need to worry none 'bout bein' ill-treated. Then I take it, sir, that you mean to sail with us?"

"There doesn't appear to be anything else I can do."

"You're about right there. Well, let's shake hands on it."

I did so, deliberately ignoring both the others, and feeling my flesh twitch when I touched his flabby palm. Tuttle chewed savagely on the tobacco in his cheek.

"Damn the women!" he commented in sudden anger. "Better give the crew their breakfast, Anderson. Mr. Stephens, I've sent Dade into the cabin to attend things aft. He'll make a good hand at that sort o' job."

We passed out together into the bright sunlight on deck, and I remained in silence for a moment beside the rail, gazing forth across the empty sea. Had I done what was right in all these circumstances? Under God, I was not really certain; yet I could perceive no other action possible.

A slenderly built, stoop-shouldered young fellow, who shuffled about like a waiter ashore, was in the pantry, and I noticed a white cloth spread over the table, which had been lowered from its stanchions and now occupied the center of the main cabin, and a swinging shelf suspended above.

"Ever act in this capacity before, Dade?" I asked, sizing him up in the dim light.

"Oh, yes, sir," a slight lip to his tongue. "I've done cabin work on the coast liners."

"Then you should surely understand your business. Lay covers for four."

"Four, sir?" in surprise.

"That is what I said, Dade; two ladies, Mr. Tuttle, and myself. That makes four to my figuring. Now step lively, my lad. When will breakfast be ready to serve?"

"In about 15 minutes, sir."

I waited until he became busy with his work, his face still filled with amazement over my revelation, then walked around the end of the piano, and rapped softly at the after-cabin door. Celeste opened the door with a dainty courtesy and a quick uplifting of frightened eyes to my face. She had been crying, and in some way her very manner made me suddenly aware how poorly I stood in the estimation of her mistress and herself. Yet, for the moment, I did not seriously care, stepping quietly within, cap in hand, intent merely on the rapid completion of my visit. Lady Darlington arose instantly from her chair, steadying herself to the roll of the vessel with one hand on the brass rail of the bed, and fronted me silently, the expression of her face expectant but reserved. Gazing upon her, I felt the fully revealed power of her beauty, as the sunlight streaming through the open port illumined her hair and outlined the delicate oval of her face. Troubled as she was, surrounded by a terror no less real because she failed thoroughly to comprehend it, facing one she must distrust and secretly fear, her first utterance, friendly and courteous, merely exhibited a heart which beat warmly beneath its slight armor of pride.

"I am exceedingly glad to greet you again, Mr. Stephens," she said, pleasantly, even endeavoring to smile; "you were absent so long we had begun to expect evil news."

"I regret to say, Lady Darlington, that I bring you only very little of any

"Treasure!" She gasped, "Where Do You Propose Going in Search?"

"Kind," I replied, striving earnestly to imitate her self-possession. "Arrangements on board have not yet assumed definite shape, so that I can make no promise concerning your future. I can merely assure you present safety, and pledge you every comfort the yacht affords while you remain with us."

She continued to gaze at me strangely, her eyes filled with questioning.

"Then you—you refuse to tell us our fate?"

"Merely because I do not know it. As I said before I am only one man pitted against 20."

She pressed her hand over her eyes, as though she would hide from me the sudden horror pictured within their depths.

"What are you?" she exclaimed, suddenly, her lips trembling. "Into whose hands have we fallen? I beg that you answer me honestly—why have you stolen this yacht? What real purpose underlies this terrible outrage?"

I made no effort to disguise the deep sympathy I felt for her, yet there was nothing I could answer but must have sounded both harsh and cruel.

"The motive animating the men in control is similar to that which renders possible most of the desperate deeds of the world—the search after treasure."

"Treasure!" she gasped, thoroughly bewildered. "Where do you propose going to search?"

"Far south, into the Antarctic."

The expression on her face was pitiful, yet I stood helpless to comfort.

"Merciful God! And you actually mean to bear us with you into that forsaken sea of ice? Oh, surely you jest, you seek to frighten; you cannot be earnest in such act of cruelty. Whom can I believe? What can I hope? You have told me you were the captain of this crew of buccaners, and yet you say you can accomplish nothing with them to forward our release. Then take me to those who can! Let me beg upon my knees for mercy. Surely, surely we are of no value to you in your search after treasure. We are only weak, helpless women. Think of what this must mean to me, and be merciful."

There was no trace of tears in her eyes, but it was the white, agonized face, the unconsciously outspread arms of appeal, that smote me. I felt all my limbs tremble, my lips falter, as I made swift response.

"Lady Darlington, believe me, I have no desire except honestly to serve you. The actual truth is, I have consented to retain what is a purely nominal command of this vessel, with no other purpose except that such outward authority yields me some opportunity to assist and protect you. Otherwise I would spurn the whole affair and defy these outlaws to do their worst. It was a deplorable accident that brought me here and placed me in this situation. Practically I am as much a prisoner on board as yourself. Later, if the opportunity ever be given, I shall relate you my story, and then, perhaps, you will appreciate how perfectly helpless I am to overrule the decision of this vessel's crew. They are mad with the lust of gold, crazed by the prospect of suddenly achieving vast wealth through a single bold stroke. Would the tears of a woman influence them now? would the impotent threat of a single, helpless man? They are armed, organized, determined, desperate.

"The only thing I can do is apparently to yield to them, trusting thus to persuade them into some measure of mercy; and the only thing you can do is patiently to abide my efforts to release you from such companionship. I mean to do my best, even to the sacrifice of my life. The very thought of bearing you with us into the fogs and dangers of that storm-lashed ocean is misery to me. God knows I would do anything possible to spare you such a fate. But I wish you to understand, realize fully, how difficult my own position is. I do not bid you hope; only pray, and, above all, retain your courage. I promise nothing, because I dare venture no pledge. But I beseech you not to break down, not to exhibit open fear. In any event our first effort should be to awaken confidence in the minds of our captors, and arrive at a frank understanding between ourselves. Lady Darlington, will you be guided in this by my judgment?"

"Oh, I wish to believe," she sobbed, only half aloud, "I need some one, some one in whom I feel confidence, in whom I may repose faith. I beg of you not to consider me weak, a nerveless creature, but this situation is intolerable. I will endeavor to do what you ask. I will strive to be brave, helpful, appreciative. I—I think you are what you say. See, I give you my hand in promise."

I clasped it instantly within both my own, bending low above the white fingers, my lips set in firm resolve. I retained it still when I lifted my head, and our glances met.

"What is it your first desire of me?"

"Breakfast has been prepared, and is now awaiting us in the cabin," I answered, knowing well that some form of action must strengthen her more quickly than any further talk. "And I wish you to join us at the table exactly as though this was an ordinary voyage."

"I know the food will choke me. Does Celeste sit with us?"

"I believe you would prefer having her in the circumstances. You would not feel quite so much alone."

"I should like it; it was most thoughtful upon your part. Shall we be alone at table?"

"With the exception of the first officer, who is really the leader on board."

It was evident plainly enough that she shrank from the ordeal, the delicate lines hardening about the mouth, the gray eyes eloquent of disinclination. A moment she hesitated, her form swaying as though buffeted by a storm; then she slowly bent her head.

"I am at your service, Mr. Stephens."

In the main cabin we discovered the table already set and waiting, appearing bright and cheery with a brave display of snowy cloth and glittering silver, the swinging shelf above

Better Than Any Physician

Mr. Brown's Remarks Quickly Brought Wife Back from Borderland.

"William, dear," feebly called the invalid wife, who was supposed to be nearing the end of her earthly career.

"Yes, darling," answered the sorrowing husband. "What is it?"

"When I am gone," said she, "I feel that for the sake of the motherless little ones you should marry again."

"Do you really think it would be best, darling?" asked the faithful William.

"Yes, William, I really do," replied the invalid. "After a reasonable length of time you should seek the companionship of some good woman."

"Do you know, my dear," said the husband, "that you have lifted a great burden from my mind? Now, there is that charming Widow Jones across the way. She has acted rather friendly toward me ever since you were taken ill. Of course, dear she could never fall your place, but she is young, plump and pretty, and I'm sure she adorned by bottles and gleaming glass.

"Call Mr. Tuttle, Dade," I ordered, quietly. "Then hurry back and serve."

CHAPTER XII.

In Which I Endeavor to Assert Authority.

I was on deck again at noon, and shot the sun, returning below to work out our position. The Sea Queen still held closely to her course, almost directly west, and, realizing my helplessness, I forebore asking useless questions. Indeed, I was secretly pleased that Tuttle still held to that point of the compass, for we were now in the direct path of Australian commerce, and hence much more likely to raise a sail at any moment than if we veered farther to the southward. If any such vessel appeared I had determined to pit my strength against the crew, even to the point of physical danger.

At one o'clock Dade called the women, and soon the four of us were seated at table again. My lady's manner weighed upon my spirits, which had been none of the lightest before her appearance. I felt profoundly that the faint influence my previous words had inspired within her mind had already evaporated; that she now held me as at one with the remainder of the yacht's crew. I arose as they retired from the table, but received no reward of recognition from her averted eyes. Feeling deserted, almost humiliated, I smoked my pipe alone on deck under the lee of the cabin. But it was perfectly useless loitering there, with no duties to perform, and the sea all about bare to the far horizon. Besides, some sailor instinct told me a storm was brewing yonder to the northward which might keep me upon the bridge all night, so, in preparation for such a possibility, I went below and lay down in my bunk. I was a long time getting asleep, finally dropping off only to be aroused by the rattling of dishes when Dade arranged the table for the last meal of the day.

De Nova was pacing the bridge and emerged from the companion. I could not see the seaman who hailed, the mist held so thick, and his words seemed like a weak echo.

"Sail, almost directly ahead, sir."

"Whereaway?" asked De Nova, peering anxiously forward. "I can see nothing. Fo'e's't' zere—you see ze ship?"

"Nothin' in sight from here, sir."

The mate stared up into the vapor overhead.

"Ware was it you see it, you fellow on ze foreyard?"

The odd echo of a voice came back out of the sky.

"I only caught her through a hole in the fog, sir, one point off the weather-bow."

With a swift bound I was up the steps to the bridge and beside the second officer, recklessly determined to assume command. Before he clearly realized my presence I jangled the bells in the engine room.

"Hold her steady as she is," I said sternly to the fellow grasping the wheel.

De Nova wheeled and faced me, his black eyes full of sudden anger.

"What ze hell you mean?" he exclaimed, so surprised he stuttered. "I was officer of ze deck."

"And I am commanding the yacht, Mr. De Nova," I retorted quickly, pushing back his hand from the signal.

"I propose speaking that vessel yonder, and transshipping our passengers. Port a little, my man—no, port, you fool!—now hold her so; steady."

De Nova grasped my arm, his fingers like steel, but I broke away, pressing in between him and the rail.

GENERAL NEWS.

Twelve lives were lost in a fire in the building of the L. Fish Furniture Company, at 1306-1308 Wabash avenue, which in its occurrence and aftermath duplicated on a minor scale the Iroquois theater disaster. Hardly had the flames which caught a number of young women trapped in the sixth floor of the building been quenched than investigation revealed that the building in which the disaster occurred had never, so far as the records of the building department show, been inspected, and that the structure was erected and maintained in direct violation of the city ordinances.

Laying bare the appalling details of Pittsburgh's civic unrighteousness, ordering indictments against 31 present and past councilmen and making a demand upon the directors of the city depositories to investigate their own boards and ascertain the bribe-givers in connection with the ordinance designating their institutions as city depositories, formed the meat of two presentments made by the grand jury.

At the request of Frank Fehr, cousin of Alma Kellner, the child kidnapped at Louisville, Ky., last December, Gov. Willson of Kentucky has withdrawn the offer of $500 reward, which is believed to have kept the abductors from making terms.

That the British government actually fears for the safety of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, owing to Cairo being the hotbed of the Egyptian nationalist movement was demonstrated by the throngs of policemen that guarded the ex-president from the moment his train arrived in that city until the khedive's royal carriage had deposited him at the doors of Sheppard's hotel.

Col. Roosevelt's speeches at Khartoum and Assouan, in which he pleaded for native co-operation with the British authorities, has aroused the resentment of the Nationalists and in view of their recent assassination of Boutros Pasha, the premier, the government decided that every precaution should be taken to guard the ex-president. The colonel, himself, laughed at the idea of danger and requested that no special police guard be furnished.

By a unanimous vote the house adopted a resolution naming a committee on rules composed of six Republicans and four Democrats, under the provisions of the Norris resolution. Daizeil was named as chairman.

Sensation followed sensation in the Pittsburgh, Pa., councilmanic graft cases. Six more councilmen confessed their connection with graft in this city's affairs.

Attorney Louis Brandeis, representing Glavis and others, sprung a decided surprise before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee by declaring that he wished to call Secretary Ballinger as one of his witnesses. Attorney Vertrees, representing Mr. Ballinger, objected. The committee will decide the matter in executive session.

The house committee on interstate and foreign commerce reported favorably the administration railroad bill and that it will take precedence of all the Taft measures for consideration in the house. It will follow the navy appropriation bill.

The special grand jury that has been investigating the work of the mob that attacked the county jail at Cairo, Ill., on the night of February 17, and tried to take out the negro, John Pratt, the purse snatcher, and lynch him, found indictments against 12 persons charging them with forming a mob.

The new house committee on rules will consist of the following members: Republicans—John Dalzell, Pennsylvania; Walter I. Smith, Iowa; J. Sloat Fassett, New York; Henry S. Boutell, Illinois; Sylvester C. Smith, California; George P. Lawrence, Massachusetts. Democrats—Champ Clark, Missouri; Oscar Underwood, Alabama; John J. Fitzgerald, New York; Lincoln Dixon, Indiana. The committee, when elected by the house, will supersede the committee composed of Speaker Cannon, Dalzell, Smith of Iowa, Republicans; Clark and Fitzgerald, Democrats. Dalzell is picked for chairman.

The continued confessions of Pittsburgh councilmen, past and present, together with the rumors that the grand jury will hand down another batch of indictments, increases the terror among a certain class in that city.

All existing difficulties between the 32,000 locomotive firemen, members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen and Enginemen and the 49 western railroads have been wiped off the slate. The controversy, which for a time threatened a strike of serious proportions, was definitely settled, when a committee of the brotherhood officials accepted the terms offered by the railroads. The demand of the firemen for an increase in wages will be arbitrated.

A royal reception was given Col. Theodore Roosevelt and his party on their arrival at Cairo, Egypt, the khedive sending his state carriage to the station to convey the city's distinguished guest to the palace. During Mr. Roosevelt's six-days' stay here the program for his entertainment includes several dinners, a visit to the University of Egypt, where he will deliver an address, a visit to the American mission, where the colonel will dedicate the girl's college and a thorough inspection of many places of historic interest.

The Republican caucus selected the following members for the new rules committee: Walter I. Smith of Iowa, John Dalzell of Pennsylvania, George P. Lawrence of Massachusetts, J. Sloat Fassett of New York, Sylvester C. Smith of California, Henry S. Boutell of Illinois. All the "insurgents" with the exception of Gardner of Massachusetts were present and voted at the caucus, and declared they were satisfied with the result.

IN THE LIGHT

MAYOR OF PHILADELPHIA

They have been having some pretty hot times over in Philadelphia. Street-car strikes always are marked by violence and pistols, stones, policemen's clubs and, not infrequently, a stick of dynamite or two, play an important part in a day's happenings.

Philadelphia has had all of these, just as did St. Louis and Chicago when the car men went out in those cities.

But to get down to the subject. It is of Mayor John Edgar Reeburn, former school teacher, lawyer, state senator, presidential elector and member of congress, we intend to write.

When the strike started politicians went to the mayor and told him the stand he had taken, that of supporting the transit company and siding against the employees, meant political suicide, but the mayor wouldn't back down. It is not our place to say whether the mayor was right or wrong in the stand he took, but it is certain that few men would have the courage to face public opinion as did Mr. Reeburn.

The mayor said he did not consider the demands of the car men fair and he refused to concur in the general opinion prevailing in Philadelphia, that the differences ought to be arbitrated.

Then came the riots. Cars were wrecked and innocent persons killed. Still the mayor stood to his guns and lent his influence to the side of capital. State Senator John P. Nichol joined the other leaders in an effort to influence Mayor Reeburn to change his attitude, but without avail.

Mayor Reeburn put his own opinion above the interests of the Republican party, which has elected him to various posts of honor. A street-car strike is annoying to the people, to say the least. It is not pleasant to have to walk to work and then walk home again at night. Few cars can be run when mobs threaten. Business is affected and the whole city feels the effect of such a labor demonstration.

Consequently it took nerve on the part of John Edgar Reeburn to adopt the position he took. Few men have done it. The outcome is awaited with interest, but it is a safe prediction that Mr. Reeburn will not be a candidate for office again. The party bosses will see that he doesn't get on any ticket in Philadelphia.

NEW SENATOR CALLED "DOC"

William E. Purcell, Democrat, is now the junior senator from the State of North Dakota. The governor of Senator Purcell's state is a Democrat, and, pending the convening of the legislature it fell to his lot to name a senator. He gave his preference to Fountain L. Thompson of Cando, a man of Illinois birth and education, who went to the Dakotas a good many years ago.

Senator Thompson had been in Washington only a short time when his health failed to such an extent that he was compelled to resign his senatorial office and then Gov. Burke named Mr. Purcell.

The new North Dakota senator was born and reared in the east country. When he went west he was very much of a tenderfoot. He landed in Dakota as a full-fledged lawyer, but it took the residents of the little town in which he alighted 48 hours to learn the fact. For two full days they had held to the belief that the newcomer was a doctor of medicine, and although they were undeceived the title of doctor has clung to him from that day to this. It has been abbreviated to plain "Doc," however.

While Mr. Purcell was on his way to his Dakota home a passenger on the train became seriously ill and an attempt was made to find a physician. When the man who is now senator found that there was no doctor on the train he turned to do what he could for the patient and in order that the sick man might not lose his nerve through lack of confidence Mr. Purcell did not disclose the fact that he was not a physician.

He used some practical means to make the patient comfortable and did everything in true hospital style. The man was taken off the train at the town in which Mr. Purcell had elected to live. From the time that he offered his services to the suffering man he has been called "Doc."

The Democratic senator from North Dakota comes from the town of Wapeton, in which lives his Republican colleague, Senator McCumber. The two men have been political rivals for years, but also they have been firm personal friends, and their friendship is marked to-day when both are members of the United States senate.

SALARY FOR BEING HUSBAND

How would you like to be a husband at $50,000 a year?

If reports are true, that is the part the Viscount Maidstone is going to play. Nor is he to get the full amount the first year.

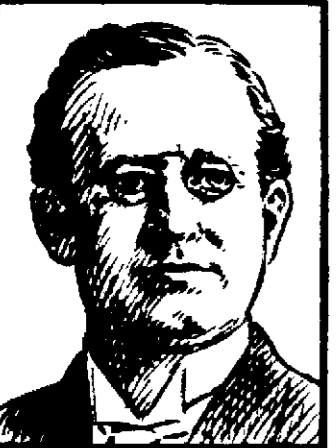

Sometime in June the viscount is coming over to this country to wed Miss Margaretta Armstrong Drexel of Philadelphia. He is going to be placed on his good behavior by his papa-in-law, who reads the newspapers and knows something of what happened to Anna Gould when she became the Countess Castellane and to Alice Thaw when she became the Countess of Yarmouth.

So Papa Drexel has decided that it is well to be wary. He has devised an ingenious marriage settlement by which he will allow the viscount $10,000 the first year and will increase the amount $5,000 annually until it reaches $50,000—all conditional on the bridegroom's conduct.

The viscount is 25 years old, a keen sportsman, one of the most popular men in English society and the eldest son of the earl of Winchelsea. He has a few thousand pounds sterling himself and can afford to accept Papa Drexel's proposal, so 'tis said.

English genealogists are now saying that if the Anglo-American alliances keep up at the present pace future students of genealogical trees will have to trace the lines of the British aristocracy back into the antiquity of the United States. Isn't that too bad?

COULDN'T BLUFF U. S. ENVOY

The United States has a minister in Colombia who is equal to an emergency. His name is Elliott Northcott. Mr. Northcott hails from the state of West Virginia and is a friend of Stephen B. Elkins.

Down in Bogota, the capital of Colombia, the street railway system is operated by an American company. The citizen of the United States who manages the affairs of the street-car company got into an altercation with a policeman, just like a citizen might do in this country. This altercation led to a riot.

The Colombians are a hot-headed people and after they had wrecked a few street cars and stopped the traffic they thought it would be the proper thing to stone the United States legation.

They surrounded the place and threw their stones. Mr. Northcott wasn't the kind of man to stand anything of that sort. He promptly told the leaders of the mob and the authorities of Bogota that he would have part of Uncle Sam's army down in that part of the country in a jiffy if they tried anything more of that kind. Colombians have had occasion to look upon Uncle Sam's soldiers and they didn't relish the idea. They decided to let the American legation alone.

The city was quiet for several days and then the feeling against the street-car company boiled over again. But there was no attack on the American legation. The warning in good West Virginia English had its effect.

PINCHOT IS SCORED

ATTORNEY VERTREES ASSERTS GLAVIS AND OTHERS TESTIFIED FALSELY AT INQUIRY.

BRANDEIS' PLEA IS REFUSED

Committee Will Not Force Secretary to Become Witness—He Will Probably Testify Just Prior to Conclusion of Proceedings.

Washington.—John J. Vertrees made the opening statement on behalf of Secretary of the Interior, Ballinger Saturday and began the presentation of testimony in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation. The committee twice declined to grant the request of Attorney Brandeis, representing Louis R. Glavis and others, to compel the immediate attendance of Mr. Ballinger as a witness.

Mr. Vertrees declared that the testimony of Glavis and others would be shown to be "grossly false."

"There is no act of Mr. Ballinger," asserted the attorney, "to which it is possible to ascribe an unworthy motive or improper purpose otherwise than through the suspicion of a perverted mind, or the resentment of a discharged public servant, or the program of an unscrupulous political intrigue."

Mr. Vertrees' statement sparked with epigrams. In one of these, referring to the acts of officers of the last administration, the attorney said: "There was the reign of men. March 4, 1909, came the reign of law."

Although Mr. Vertrees was particularly referring to Messrs. Garfield and Pinchot, some members of the committee were inclined to construe the statement as a fling at Mr. Roosevelt, and so expressed themselves.

Mr. Vertrees also dwelt at length upon Gifford-Pinchot and "the Pinchot service," as he chose to designate the forestry.

Mr. Vertrees' statement was a long one, going into the details of practically every phase of the case. He said it would be shown that as regards the Cunningham claims and in all other matters Mr. Ballinger was "clear handed" and that his actions had been those of an honest and upright citizen and official.

He denied that Secretary Ballinger had ever drawn up an escrow agreement, or any other sort of agreement in the Wilson coal land cases.

"The evidence now to be offered," said Mr. Vertrees, "will make all of these things so clear, so undeniable and so plain that this committee will cast about to discover how it is that men who knew as much of the truth as Pinchot and Glavis and Garfield and Davis and Newell knew could have had the daring to present themselves as sincere, honest harbores or a suspicion, much less as persons really believing that they had knowledge of inculpatory facts."

The growing bitterness between Attorneys Vertrees and Brandeis manifested itself in several sharp exchanges.

The demands of Mr. Brandeis, first that Mr. Ballinger appear as witness to be examined as a part of the case for the "prosecution" and later that he be required to appear as the first witness for the "defense" called on lively discussions between counsel and among members of the committee. The first request was unanimously denied. The second request was considered in executive session for 45 minutes, at the end of which time it likewise was denied.

Secretary Ballinger probably will not testify until toward the end of the proceedings.

PLAN TO DETHRONE CANNON

Insurgents Would Make Parliamentarian Hinds Speaker, Although He is Not Member of House.

Washington.—Many of the insurgent Republicans of the house who on March 19 voted to retain Speaker Cannon in the chair are "hearing from home," according to reports in circulation about the capitol. These advisers are said to be not at all reassuring.

Following close upon this information come statements from several that the war against "Cannonism" is to go on to the extent of ultimately causing the dethronement of Speaker Cannon, the election of his successor, and the complete reformation of the rules of the house. The overthrow of the speaker and the taking away from the speakership of all power to influence legislation unduly are aimed at.

A proposition to remove Speaker Cannon by means of the combined vote of Democrats and insurgents and substitute in his place Asher C. Hinds, the parliamentarian of the house, is one of the plans which several insurgents advocated.

Mr. Hinds is a Republican and is a candidate for nomination for congress from New England.

Raises Tick Fever Quarantine. Washington.—The secretary of agriculture has ordered effective April 1, the release from federal quarantine for Texas, or tick fever, of cattle, areas amounting to over 48,000 square miles. The action is taken as a result of the progress made in the extermination of ticks.

Powder Blast Kills Three. Tacoma, Wash.—An explosion at the Du Pont powder works, seven miles south of here Saturday, killed three men and injured several others.

WISCONSIN BREVITIES

Janesville.—Judge Grimm decided in favor of Capt. Phil Norcross in the Indian Ford, Rock river dam case brought against the present owners by the state and other plaintiffs. The dam was built in 1846, and the state wanted it removed. The original franchise permitted the damming up of the current to a height of six feet above low water level. It is claimed that this limit has not been adhered to, and that by the putting in of stone walls where once there were gates in several places the free passage of water in times of flood has been prevented, so that thousands of acres of land surrounding Lake Koshkonong have periodically been submerged. Even roads have been made impassable by reason of high water. This dam furnishes light and power for the city of Edgerton. It was built by Guy Stoughton.

Richland Center.—While her mother was gone from the house, Evelyn, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Giles, near here, received burns from which she cannot recover. She pushed a poker into the front of the stove, causing coals to roll out and ignite her clothing. Responding to the screams the mother found her child enveloped in flames, and before they could be smothered the child's right side was burned from feet to the neck, the arm being badly charred. The head escaped being badly injured because the child wore a red stocking cap.

New Richmond.—The Church of the Immaculate Conception arranged a benefit through the local court of the Catholic Order of Foresters, the funds raised to be used to defray the expenses of a trip by the pastor, Rev. Father M. E. Boyce, to his old home in Ireland. The principal addresses were made by James H. Kane of Seattle, on "Ireland and Her People," and Col. S. N. Hawkins of this city, on "Irish History."

La Crosse.—Richard Kaiser, stabbed by Gustave Krieblich at the Ten Mile house on the Mormon Coulee road in a saloon brawl on September 14 last, who has since been confined in the St. Francis hospital in a critical condition, commenced a civil suit against Krieblich for $20,000 damages. Kaiser alleges that as a result of the stabbing, he has suffered the partial loss of the use of one lung.

Green Bay.—Practically all of the steel towers to convey the power from High Falls to Green Bay have been erected. It has been necessary to start condemnation proceedings to secure lands upon which to erect some of the towers. The towers along the right of way are 520 feet apart and are being solidly imbedded upon cement pedestals, pyramidal in form.

La Crosse.—Construction of the $40,000 addition to the La Crosse post office will be started soon. Superintendent L. Petton of the General Construction Company of Milwaukee, has made the preliminary arrangements for an early start on the contract. The addition will be 22 feet in width and the full length of the building.

Oconomowoc.—The contract for the hall to be erected by Zion parish at Oconomowoc has been awarded and work will be commenced at once. The plans were drawn by A. C. Clas of Milwaukee and the building will be fitted up with a modern gymnasium, large choir rooms and other departments for the several needs of the parish.

Madison.—Bishop J. J. Keene of Sheboygan closed his series of lenten meetings in St. Paul chapel when he discussed "Why Am I a Catholic?" A meeting of the 500 odd Catholic students was held in the chapel to devise ways and means for supporting the church. The plan is to tax each student one dollar.

Menasha.—The dead body of a new born babe was found lying beside the Northwestern tracks between this city and Appleton, where it had apparently been thrown from a passing train. Coroner T. D. Phillips and the district attorney have taken charge of the case.

Racine.—The Stecher, Weber & Huettlin Company planing mill and sash and door factory was damaged about $6,000 by fire on Saturday. It caught fire in a dry kiln on the third floor and firemen had hard work getting control.

Oconto.—William Mitchell of Norway, Mich., who attempted suicide by drinking carbolic acid, has sufficiently recovered from the effects of the poison to return home. He was accompanied by his wife, who was called here last week.

Madison.—William Nagel of Pleasant Branch, seven miles west of Madison, was killed by being hit on the head by the flywheel of a wood sawing machine. He was 48 years old.

Stoughton.—Two freight trains collided near here, blocking all traffic. Engineer Phillips of Milwaukee was slightly injured.

Fond du Lac.—Fond du Lac people who have been purchasing fish from a peddler the past few weeks have just learned that they have been eating dogfish. It is said the purchasers were told the fish were trout. The low price asked got the peddler many customers. According to the law the man can be prosecuted and a case may be made out against him.

Stoughton.—The post office here was damaged by fire, but the building, owned by the State bank, was saved by a bucket brigade and the city fire department after $30 damage had been done.

NO HEALTHY SKIN LEFT

My little son, a boy of five, broke out with an itching rash. Three doctors prescribed for him, but he kept getting worse until we could not dress him any more. They finally advised me to try a certain medical college, but its treatment did no good. At the time I was induced to try Cuticura he was so bad that I had to cut his hair off and put the Cuticura Ointment on him on bandages, as it was impossible to touch him with the bare hand. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body that was not affected. He was one mass of sores. The bandages used to stick to his skin and in removing them it used to take the skin off with them, and the screams from the poor child were heart-breaking. I began to think that he would never get well, but after the second application of Cuticura Ointment I began to see signs of improvement, and with the third and fourth applications the sores commenced to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but it finally yielded to the treatment. Now I can say that he is entirely cured, and a stronger and healthier boy you never saw than he is to-day, twelve years or more since the cure was effected. An Italian queen in a hive of black workers will beget workers of mixed blood, but her sons are pure Italians.

There is no better strain of bees than the Italian, the common ones. They are large, strong and fine honey gatherers.

The farmers need roads over which they can haul their crops to town when the weather is too wet to work in the field.

Saturday night or Sunday morning is a good time to give the horse a bran mash. This will put them in good shape for Monday morning when the new week's work begins.

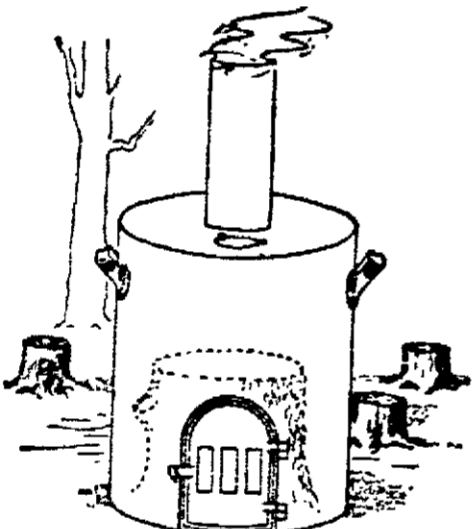

The queen bee is simply a female bee fully developed. By their method of making cells so small that the larvae cannot fully develop, the other young females are dwarfed and become workers.

The increased population of the United States, and the movement from the farm to the city which has been so constant within the last decade, has resulted in a demand for the products of the soil much greater than the supply.

BURNING OUT LARGE STUMPS

Satisfactory and Inexpensive Way is to Place Galvanized Furnace Over Object.

A satisfactory and inexpensive way of burning out stumps is to place a galvanized furnace, as shown in the sketch, over the stump and allow it to burn at leisure, writes Mr. Wooley in Popular Mechanics. This furnace is cylindrical and is made of sufficient size to cover the stumps. An ordinary joint of stove pipe is used for the smoke. A door of convenient size is made below to cover an opening that serves as a damper. The stump is covered with kerosene and a fire built near the door between the opening and the stump. The furnace may be turned with the wind, if necessary, to give the fire a strong, steady draft. This contrivance will burn out large stumps in a remarkably short time, leaving nothing but deeply buried roots, and sometimes the flames will burn these out a great depth.

in a super. For convenience in handling the feeder should be about two inches shorter in front, one-half inch at the back and three-quarter inch at each side than the super's inside measurements, and the front should be partly cut away, as shown. In use the super may be set below the brood chamber with, say, 20 or 25 pounds of syrup in the feeder, says Orange Judd Farmer. This amount will be taken up by a strong colony in about two days. It is essential that paraffin be used freely around the cracks to prevent leaking.

Good Cow Pasture.

No western farmer on good land capable of growing 60 to 80 bushels of corn to the acre, according to the season, should be satisfied if when it is in pasture it does not keep a cow to the acre from the first of May to the first of November.

GOOD TOP FOR WHEELBARROW

Particularly Useful in Collecting Grass and Dried Leaves from Suburban Lawns.

There are many ways in which the wheelbarrow top shown in the illustration will be useful, but particularly in collecting cut grass and dried leaves from suburban lawns. The device was designed by a Pennsylvania man, and is certain to have wide popularity.

A rectangular wire basket, the bottom of which is the dimensions of the bottom of a wheelbarrow, fits on the latter after the sides of the barrow have been removed. The basket can be fastened, if so desired, so that it will not fall off, but ordinarily this is not necessary. Such a device will hold nearly three times as much as an ordinary wheelbarrow, and will be welcomed by gardeners. The basket itself is light, and when filled with grass that has just been cut or dried leaves makes a load not nearly so heavy as a load of dirt, yet saves many trips that are otherwise required to remove the litter from the lawn.

FRESH AND ROTTED MANURES

Careful Study of the Effects of Both Will Determine Which is Best to Be Used.

(By H. H. SHEPARD.)

There seems to be a difference of opinion as to the value and use of fresh and well-rotted manure. Almost all authors on gardening recommend the use of "well-rotted" manure for all plants.

That well-rotted manure is the safest and best for immediate results in general farm and garden practice is admitted.

But large quantities of this fertilizer are difficult to secure, while fresh manure is plentiful and may be secured at all times. Beside, manure which has rotted in heaps, unless properly handled, has lost a large share of its best fertilizing properties. The greatest objection to the use of fresh manure for immediate plant growth is that it burns the crop unless the growing season is very wet.

This, too, will be admitted in the usual case, yet the bad effects from the use of fresh manure arise from improper methods of applying the manure and the working of the soil after the application.

Fresh manure may or may not heat in the soil and injure plants according to the way it is worked in the soil. Fresh manure of course undergoes decomposition and produces heat in the process and the more of it there is in one place the more heat there will be given off.

Then to overcome the bad effects of the heat to growing plants fresh manure should be well scattered and well mixed with the soil so that no large amount will remain in any one place.

The soil should be deeply harrowed and disked, or both, so that all the manure is thoroughly incorporated with the soil particles, leaving a uniform mixture. Then the decomposition will be slow, hence a less amount of heat evolved.

Till Deep for Alfalfa.

We have about come to the conclusion that if land cannot be plowed from eight to ten inches deep, or if possible deeper, for alfalfa, it is a pretty risky thing to sow it in most parts of central and western Dakota. Almost every good piece of alfalfa we know of, or have personally visited, has been put in fairly deep and on land that has been plowed or subsoiled at least ten inches deep. This deep seed bed gives the plant an opportunity for deep rooting and getting well established before the first winter, and this means much; it generally means everything. With only now and then an exception, it is simply wasting seed to sow on thinly plowed, poorly tilled ground.

Curing of Meats.

Among a good many farmers the right curing of farm meats has become almost a lost art. It is a real pleasure to visit one of those old-time farms which produce something of everything, cattle, sheep, hogs and, of course, fowls. The delight of sausage-making and trying out lard and smoking the shoulders and hams and putting meat down in brine will always live in the mind of the boy on the farm who has helped at such work.

Faulty Pasture.

If you have a field that has required two acres to keep a cow during the last season, then there is something wrong with it. It either has not sufficient fertility or it has not a sufficient stand of grass; one or the other.

ANY WOMAN CAN HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR.

(From French Beauty Monthly.)
"No woman should use water upon her hair oftener than once in two months," says M. Fournier, the noted French scientist. "Dry powder only should be used. Moisture causes the hair to lose its color and in time become thin."

"Any woman desiring abundant, lustrous hair should use a dry shampoo every two or three days. Mix four ounces of powdered orris root with four ounces of ether. Sprinkle about a tablespoonful of this mixture upon the head; then brush the powder thoroughly through the hair. This will keep it light and fluffy, and beautifully lustrous. You will soon see new hair starting to grow. This treatment is the only thing that I am sure will produce a growth of hair."

"While plain orris root is used as a dry shampoo by many women, still, no such results can be obtained as by using the formula I have given."

The Right Spirit.

Appropos of Valentine day a passenger on the Bermudian said:

"Mark Twain once told us, in a little Valentine day speech on this boat, of an Irish wooer who had the right valentine spirit. Acceptance or rejection he could take with equal grace."

"Will ye be my valentine?" he said on February 14 to the girl he loved.

"No," she replied. "I am another's."

"He heaved a sigh and said:

"Shure, thin, darlin', I wish ye was twins, so that I could have at laste the half of ye."

Have You Tried?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? We can furnish positive proof that it has made many remarkable cures after all other means had failed.

Women who are suffering with some form of female illness should consider this.

As such evidence read these two unsolicited testimonial letters. We guarantee they are genuine and honest statements of facts.

Cresson, Pa.—"Five years ago I had a bad fall, and hurt myself inwardly. I was under a doctor's care for nine weeks, and when I stopped I grew worse again. I sent for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it as directed, and now I am a stout, hearty woman."—Mrs. Ella E. Alkey, Cresson, Pa.

Baird, Wash.—"A year ago I was sick with kidney and bladder troubles and female weakness. The doctors gave me up. All they could do was to just let me go as easily as possible. I was advised by friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. I am completely cured of my ill, and I am nearly sixty years old."—Mrs. Sarah Leighton, Baird, Wash.

Evidence like the above is abundant showing that the derangements of the female organism which breed all kinds of miserable feelings and which ordinary practice does not cure, are the very disorders that give way to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are afflicted with similar troubles, after reading two such letters as the above, should be encouraged to try this wonderfully helpful remedy.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ill. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

LEONARD WOOD

The Doctor who became a General

By JAMES CREELMAN

AJ. GEN. LEONARD WOOD in his forty-ninth year, one of the most picturesque figures in the whole United States army, this month assumes the duties of chief of staff of the army.

When Leonard Wood ceased to be a doctor in order to be a soldier he may not have considered the profound difference in philosophic viewpoint of a profession trained to keep men alive and a profession trained to kill them.

The born adventurer seldom analyzes himself, but seeks glory where the world gives it; and if he should "chose brave death in a red coat before brave life in a black one," the responsibility must rest upon society, which gives such unequal honors to those who heal and those who slay.

Twelve years ago Leonard Wood was an assistant army surgeon. To-day he is the senior general of the United States army, and chief of staff. "Gen. Wood is easily the ablest soldier the nation has produced since the civil war," said former President Roosevelt. "If we should become involved in war to-morrow I don't know where I should look for a man to take his place. He would be the one man to take command."

It is said that even Lord Cromer, the great British regenerator of Egypt, was so impressed by Gen. Wood's work in Cuba that he expressed regret that he could not have such an administrator and organizer to succeed him in office.

Leonard Wood is an adventurer of the true Elizabethan type. Whether chasing murderous Apaches through the mountains, creating a government in Cuba, or forcing order and civilization upon the Mohammedan savages of Mindanao and Sulu by armed force, he has always been a master.

Dr. Wood might have proved a failure. Gen. Wood has been a success.

He is tall, straight and broad-shouldered. He has a small waist, the bulging, muscle-padded chest of a gorilla, arms like a blacksmith, and thick, powerful hands. He can walk like a bull moose; jump with the quickness of a cat; box, wrestle and fence like a professional. Although he is 49 years old, it is doubtful if there is a man in the whole army to-day possessed of more strength, energy, skill and endurance.

Scotch, Irish and English blood mingles in Leonard Wood. His father descended from William White, who died on the Mayflower, through Peregrine White, the first-born of Plymouth colony, and from William Wood, who was a Plymouth freeholder in 1629. His mother's strain goes back to the Hagar family, who came from Ireland in 1634 and settled at Watertown, Mass., and to that patriot great-grandfather, John Nixon, who commanded a company at Lexington, a regiment at Bunker Hill, and a brigade at Saratoga.

His father and uncle were country doctors, the sons of a stout New England farmer who kept a tavern and owned much wooded land. His father served as a private soldier in the civil war and was sent home from the field permanently invalided. To get rid of malaria the doctor-soldier moved his family to the sandy soil of Cape Cod.

In 1880, when Leonard was a stalwart, quick-witted youth of 20 years, the Wood family debated whether he should enter Harvard university. That was the very time when Theodore Roosevelt was graduated from Harvard. The iron-muscled young Yankee, who was already a notable cross-country runner, wanted to enter the army or navy. The spirit of adventure was strong in him. But the wishes of his sober old father prevailed, and, having obtained a scholarship, he entered the Harvard Medical school.

In the third year after he entered the study of medicine he won in a competitive examination for service in the city hospital of Boston. After 15 months in this position he had a row with the hospital superintendent and resigned. Then he served in the North End dispensary of Boston.

In following the story of this singular man it is interesting to know that, although he followed his father's wishes by entering a medical school, he there became the chum of a son of an army captain, and, while studying medicine, he actually began to prepare himself for a military career by reading military science, and in every way possible sought to fit himself for the army entrance examinations.

After leaving the Boston dispensary, the young doctor went into general practice in that city.

In 1885 the young Boston doctor who was destined to become the senior general of the United States army went to New York and passed the army examinations for military surgeons, standing second among the competitors.

There was no vacancy for him, but presently he got a letter from the surgeon-general at Washington, offering him a contract as a civilian surgeon with the army, at a hundred dollars a month, with free quarters and rations, and forage for his horse.

As the letter suggested service in the west, the doctor joyfully accepted the contract and, under orders, went to join Gen. Crook at Fort Huachuca, Arizona, about 20 miles from the Mexican frontier.

This was a chance from Boston. Picked troops under Miles and Lawton were to pursue Geronimo and his fierce Apaches till they were captured or destroyed.

It was an extraordinary campaign, full of perils and hardships. The Apaches had robbed and murdered the people of Arizona and Sonora, Mexico, so long that each little village was surrounded by walls. Being mountaineers of great muscular power, the Indians, who could live on cactus and various roots, were accustomed to make journeys on foot through the roughest regions with a speed that defied pursuit.

Leonard Wood proved to be the strongest and most persistent man in the expedition. It was found that he could actually "walk down" an Apache even in the mountains. At the end of a desperate chase the officers would one by one drop out, utterly exhausted, and the young Boston doctor would be leading the soldiers and directing them.

Finally, at his own request, the iron-muscled young surgeon was put in command of the infantry, and from that time on he regularly led soldiers like a line of officers; nor did he fail to do his full duty as a medical man.

The hardest part of the trip was when the expedition crossed the Southern Pacific railway and moved into the San Rita mountains. It occurred to Lawton that he might cut off Geronimo's band by striking across the Mexican border. To do this he required additional orders and he was puzzled how to send back a dispatch asking permission, for the country in his rear was known to be full of hostiles.

In this emergency the doctor offered to be Lawton's messenger. Leaving the camp with a single companion, who dropped out after 20 miles, he rode in one night 73 miles and got back with an answer at eight o'clock in the morning, in time to get breakfast and then walk 34 miles with the troops, till a camp was made at nine o'clock that night. On the day before his ride he had traveled 25 miles on foot with his scout. That made a total of 132 miles traveled in about 36 hours.

When, at last, Geronimo and his swarthy cutthroats were captured in September, 1886, Dr. Wood, who had now received his commission as an assistant surgeon, accompanied Lawton with the prisoners to San Antonio. The Indians had killed 700 Mexicans and 98 Americans, including some soldiers, before they were literally run down.

In 1898, Lawton wrote of the Geronimo campaign and the doctor's part in it to Gov. Wolcott of Massachusetts:

"When through exposure and fatigue the infantry battalion lost its last officer, Capt. Wood volunteered to command it, in addition to his duties as a surgeon. In this duty Capt. Wood reached the grade of captain afterward while still a surgeon, distinguished himself most. His courage, endurance and example made success possible. I served through the War of the Rebellion and in many battles, but in no instance do I remember such devotion to duty, or such an example of courage and perseverance. It was mainly due to Capt. Wood's loyalty and resolution that the expedition was successful."

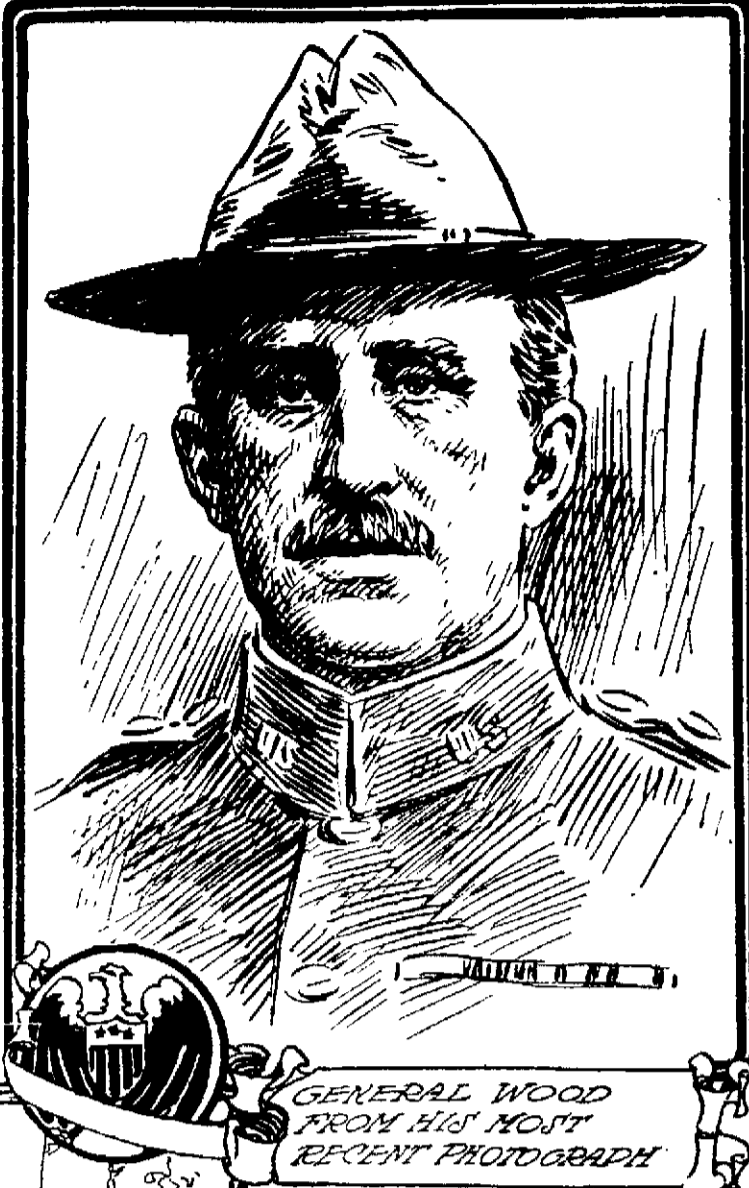

Leonard Wood's enemies have charged that he reached his distinction in the army largely through his skill as a courtier and the favoritism of President McKinley and President Roosevelt, but no criticism can wipe out the words of Lawton, one of the noblest and sincerest soldiers who ever carried the sword of the republic.

When Geronimo and his men were disposed of, Wood returned to Arizona and was assigned by Gen. Miles to command a special expedition to capture or kill seven escaped Indian prisoners who had fled to Sonora, Mexico. He was in the field from October, 1886, till the following February, and penetrated Mexico ten days' journey south of the Yakui river.

Then, after a month or two on duty at Los Angeles, he went back to Arizona and again took the field with the expedition against "Apache Kid" during 1887 and 1888. Then he was stationed at the Presidio, San Francisco, where he spent four years, including one summer camping with troops in the Yosemite country.

Soon after President McKinley was elected, Dr. Bates, the regular attending surgeon of the White House, died. The president asked Wood to take Dr. Bates' place. In that way the Indian trapper, who had a high standing as a surgeon, came into familiar and affectionate relations with Mr. McKinley.

When Theodore Roosevelt became assistant secretary of the navy, he and the doctor met and became fast friends. There was much to attract these two singular men together. They were devoted to boxing, fencing, wrestling, riding and walking. Dr. Wood had struggled to rise from the pale anxieties of his profession by serving as a soldier. Mr. Roosevelt had tried to live down the effete influences of a Harvard course, and fashionable New York social connections, by becoming a ranchman on the plains of North Dakota. Each was eager for distinction, mad for many adventures. There was but two years' difference between their ages.

Together the man who was to be president of the United States and he who was to be chief general of the American army walked and talked, day after day, punched each other's bodies, whacked each other's heads with singleticks, wrestled, ran, rode side by side and lived the strenuous life to the utmost.

The earth danced beneath the feet of the comrades as they talked of everything that might open the path of useful adventure and glory to their strength and courage. They looked into the seeds of time for signs of dangers to be desperately encountered and honors to be won.

Then, as the prospects of a war with Spain seemed to approach reality, the spirits of the two rose. Day after day and week after week Leonard Wood and Theodore Roosevelt racked their brains to see how they might get into the war both felt sure was coming.

They tried to get into the Seventy-first regiment of New York as majors. It was useless. Dr. Wood attempted to get the governor of Massachusetts to give him command of a regiment. He filed an application with the secretary of war for a volunteer regiment in case of war.

When the war with Spain broke upon the nation Secretary Alger sent for Mr. Roosevelt and offered him the colonelcy of one of three volunteer regiments to be raised and equipped.

"I don't want to be colonel," said Mr. Roosevelt. "That position should go to Leonard Wood. I don't know how to organize or equip a regiment for the field. He does. He knows the practical way to prepare cavalry for actual war conditions in the shortest possible time. Let him be colonel and I will gladly serve with him as lieutenant-colonel until I am fit to command a regiment."

So Leonard Wood got his commission as colonel of the First United States Volunteer cavalry, known as "Roosevelt's Rough Riders."

Twenty-one days after he received his colonel's commission his regiment, gathered from four frontier countries, was being drilled in San Antonio.

When the Rough Riders were ordered to advance from the seashore at Siboney, Cuba, to meet the enemy at La Guasimas—the first fight of Shafter's army—Col. Wood moved out with the head of his regiment at such a pace that almost half of his men were left far in the rear.

After the Spaniards surrendered Santiago, Gen. Shafter recommended that the now promoted Gen. Wood be put in command of the conquered and battle-stricken city, with Gen. Lawton in command of the province.

How soon war changes the fortunes of men! In December 1898, just a year and seven months after our two adventurers took the Rough Riders to the Caribbean sea, Leonard Wood, the poor surgeon, was a major general of volunteers and appointed military governor of Cuba; and Theodore Roosevelt was the governor-elect of the great state of New York.

It was no light-hearted, adventurous youth who sailed for the Philippines in March, 1902, but a grave, observant man of 43 years. His experience in Cuba had taught him much, and above all things, the extreme importance of careful preparation in dealing with alien races.

Early in 1906 Gen. Wood took command of the entire Philippine division, which includes nearly 18,000 troops. For more than two years he put his tremendous energy to the task of emphasizing the training of soldiers for actual conditions of war, treating administrative methods, not as an object, but as means. At the end of his long and brilliant service in the Philippines he returned to the United States to assume his first military command on the American continent since the days when, as a surgeon, he led troops against the Apaches.

CAUCUSES ARE HELD

REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS SELECT MEMBERS FOR RULES COMMITTEE.

HARMONY REIGNS IN BOTH

Dalzell of Penna. Will Probably Be Chosen Chairman When House Ratifies the Nominations—"Insurgents" Express Satisfaction.

Republicans—John Dalzell, Pennsylvania; Walter I. Smith, Iowa; J. Sloan Fassett, New York; Henry S. Boutell, Illinois; Sylvester C. Smith, California; George P. Lawrence, Massachusetts.

Democrats—Champ Clark, Missouri; Oscar Underwood, Alabama; John J. Fitzgerald, New York; Lincoln Dixon, Indiana.

Washington.—The above named congressmen will constitute the new house committee on rules.

This committee, when elected by the house, will supersede the committee composed of Speaker Cannon, Dalzell, Smith of Iowa, Republicans; Clark and Fitzgerald, Democrats. Dalzell is picked for chairman.

All the "insurgents" with the exception of Gardner of Massachusetts were present at the Republican caucus and voted, and such of them as Morris and Murdock declared they were satisfied with the result.

When the caucus was called to order Representative Tawney took the floor and made a most impassioned speech for harmony. A similar speech was made by Payne of New York.

On conclusion of the speeches the following names were placed in nomination:

Longworth, Gaines, Gardner, Fassett, Smith (Iowa), Boutell, Dalzell, Smith (California), Kahn, Lawrence, Leudon, Miller, Stevens, Cooper, Denby, Murdock, Davidson and Martin.

Needham of Colorado, Olmstead of Pennsylvania, Parsons of New York and Norris of Nebraska were also nominated, but they declined.

It was decided on motion of Representative Hubbard, and seconded by Payne of New York, that the ballot should be secret.

Those nominated by the insurgents, were Gardner, Cooper, Murdock, Davidson, Martin and Norris.

The following was the first vote announced: Smith (Iowa), 168; Dalzell (Pennsylvania), 146; Lawrence (Massachusetts), 126; Fassett (New York), 113; Smith (California), 92; Boutell (Illinois), 85; Kahn (California), 56; Longworth (Ohio), 33.

The first four were declared elected.

In the second ballot the important votes were: Smith of California, 136; Boutell of Illinois, 108; Longworth of Ohio, 59, the first two being declared elected.

The insurgents did not show up strong in the voting. Gardner of Massachusetts, who was sick and absent, got 33 votes, the highest number. Norris got 5; Cooper, 4; Madison, 4; Murdock, 6; Fish, 7, and Davidson, 5.

Speaker Cannon was present during the caucus, but took no active part in the proceedings.

Mr. Longworth was nominated by two insurgents, Taylor of Ohio and Pickett of Iowa. His largest vote, coming on the second ballot, was 59, or just 15 more votes than were cast by the insurgents on the adoption of the Norris resolution.

The insurgents have promised to support the caucus nominees in balloting in the house, and by their votes in the caucus pledged themselves to carry out that promise.

Prior to the assembling of the caucus the insurgents held a meeting at which they decided to voice a protest against the selection of Messrs. Dalzell and Fassett. But they stopped there, and Dalzell and Fassett had no difficulty in winning.

The Democrats selected their committeemen in caucus Thursday with 140 members present. Harmony was the watchword of the assemblage.

Mr. Sims of Tennessee presented a resolution immediately after the caucus was called to order by Chairman Clayton instructing the new Democratic members on rules to use their efforts to bring from the general committee a resolution providing for the election of a committee on committees by the house. This committee is to name members of the house committees.

Rainey of Illinois promptly made a point of order that the caucus was called primarily to select members of the new committee on rules and Clayton sustained the point of order.

Sims appealed from the decision, but withdrew the appeal when assured he could bring his resolution up later. This he did but it was snowed under.

The selection of members resulted: Clark, 125; Underwood, 102; Dixon, 99; Fitzgerald, 98. There was a large scattering vote, including Hammond, 18; Slayden, 6; Hughes, 8; Sulzer, 5; Rainey, 4; Clayton, 2; Sherley, 3, and A. Mitchell Palmer, 3.

Bolt, Not Boys, to Blame.

Newton, N. J.—A committee appointed by the First Presbyterian church to find the mischievous boy "who climbed the 180-foot spire of the church and removed the big gilt ball that surmounted it" Wednesday reported its findings, exonerating the youth of the town. A bolt of lightning was responsible for the disappearance of the ornament. When the bolt struck the ball fell from its place a molten mass and was destroyed before it reached the ground. The spire bears no marks of the lightning.

What A. L. Hill, the Great Railroad Magnate, Says About His Wheat-Producing Power

"The greatest need of this country is a better system of transportation or two will be the providing of homes for its people and the production of food for them. The days of our prominence as a nation, when exporting country are gone. Canada is to be the great wheat country of the world."

This great railroad magnate is taking advantage of the situation by building a new railway building to the wheat fields of the west.

Upwards of 125 Million Bushels of Wheat were harvested in 1900. Average of the three provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba will be 250,000,000 bushels per acre. There are 100,000,000 acres of land in the wheat districts.
